2800 visitors attended this party.

The following competitions were held:

PC 4K Intro, PC 64K Intro, PC Demo,

Amiga 4K Intro, Amiga 40K Intro, Amiga Demo,

4 channel music & multichannel music (Amiga & PC),

graphics (Amiga & PC), C-64 graphics, C-64 music,

C-64 demo, ...

Extract from the official party report:

In general Assembly `94 was a big success. We had the total of 2800 whole weekend visitors and 600 short visit visitors, which means that Assembly `94 was the biggest demo party held so far. Around 60% of all visitors were PC owners, the rest were Amiga and C-64 owners.

All the sponsors were satisfied and most of them were present at the party place as well. In the end the sponsor list looked like this:

1. Advanced Gravis
 2. Terton / ZyXEL Telecommunications
 3. Compaq Computer
 4. IBM
 5. ATI Technologies
 6. Toptronics
 7. Epic MegaGames

20. Pro Component

There was a lot of people from the media present, for example a news crew from CNN.

The overall quality in the competitions was good. The 4kb intro competition on PC was the most surprising one, but ofcoz all the other competitions were good too.

The problem with the correct results

The organisers even seemed to be not capable to unite a few groups in a small text; the official results only included some vague names of the designers. We hope we succeeded in finding out the correct results sometimes anyway ...

A CD-Rom with all released stuff was released after The Party 5.

New viruses on The Party 5

Some versions of TP5-TSL.LHA and TP5-TRSI.LHA include the new Trojan Virus. JS!BS1&2.LHA includes somekind of a harddisk-formatter.

WhatIsIt? : No question about it: This IS the most CLASSIC and the most FAMOUS demo of all time. Of course it does not normally go into a Top-50 nowadays, but it is just too nostalgic to be left out. I remember how astonished I was when I watched this demo for the very first time. I guess that PHENOMENA is yet today the group that most people wants to see a "comeback" from. There have been a lot of rumours that they really will do a comeback but I doubt it myself. Whatever happens, PHENOMENA will always be among the true legends of the Amiga-scene and all scenes in general! (Wizard)

WhatIsIt? : This demo is probably the most perfectly put-together demo ever. To fit everything the show has to offer onto 1 disk is somekind of a miracle. Also, the main-theme by Jester is the best demotune I've ever heard. A really speedy song which really makes the demo better. The first version of this demo was released at THE PARTY4. Due to some harddrive crashes they had problems with making the demo complete. I guess that this final version would have done better in the democompetition at TheParty4. But why don't they use AGA graphics when the demo requires a 68020 anyway? (Wizard)

How2Handle: demo supports external diskdrives

Remark : two versions available: for MC68020 and MC68030

Genre : Diskdemo (2d)

WhatIsIt? : Demo was originally no. 1 at Doom`s Day Party 1994, but rules stated that the demo must work on a standard A1200 (demo supported MC68030, but worked on a A1200 MC68020 too!). So Rebels got only two bottles of wine instead of the winning price - seems to be that the party-organisers had less money than they had expected :) (Dire)

The second generation of Rebels proves they are worthy their name. One of the first really good AGA-trackmos released. Includes a stunning end-part where the attender is given a free roller-coaster trip. Excellent endmusic but I don't like the main-theme at all. (Wizard)

WhatIsIt? : A great show in heavy coding produced by what seems like a one-man-army! Excellent song to make a demo to, it really has something to say even in these days.

Looks like a demo which wasn't made just for commercialism, that's nice to reckon!

WhatIsIt? : The masters of intros finally decided to make a demo. The result is really impressive.

Some really nice routines taking advantage of fastmem in a truely nice way. Unfortuantely the demo has a sudden end which I presume was caused by the demo-deadline at Assembly'94?

WhatIsIt? : With this demo, Virtual Dreams introduced the graphical-only type of demo. The whole demo is based upon awesome raytraced animations. The animations are also very professional made.

Genre : Multifile-Demo (HD) (6 disks)

WhatIsIt? : Another masterpiece released at the Assembly'94. This one is a really huge demo which really uses the strength of your machine. It features some nice routines like a doom-engine, voxel-landscape and a city-flyaround. It is stated that there is a A4000 version released but I can't really confirm that myself. Annoying is that the music ends abruptly a couple of times. (Wizard)

How2Handle: Exit
Remark : A4000-fix (V1.4, Size: 10K) was released on 25-Sep-94
Genre : Multifile-Demo (HD) (4 disks)
WhatIsIt? : It is the first of a new breed of demos - large, pretty and well put together. Impressive indeed. (Kenji Irie)
First version released at the Assembly'94, but as far as I can remember it wasn't shown in its full length. Maybe they didn't manage to get it all together in time. Anyway, this demo is really awesome with no doubt the most smashing first-part EVER. The soundeffects by Zoltar is totally awesome. All in all I think that this shows that those guys, who also gave us "Odyssey" a couple of years earlier, are among the alltime BEST demo-makers.

Graphician: Ozzie

Genre : Diskdemo (3d)
WhatIsIt? : One of the funniest demos ever made. Say what you want about Rage's political aspects but they sure know how to entertain. The two disk digitized animation is really amusing with morphing of a Volvo into a Starwars ship. And the parody on the "State Of The Art" demo is quite funny. If I do not rememeber wrong I think that only the anim-part of the demo were actually shown at the Assembly'94. Too bad as the "real" demo part have quite high quality. Doesn't support x-drives (In an old fashioned way.. ;-)) (Wizard)

WhatIsIt? : This classic demo invites us to a real space-odyssey.

It got a lot of critics because many other coders found the demo "too easy to code". I guess it was the good old jealousy who made them say so about this demo. Maybe it is easy to code but it sure is nice to watch. (Wizard)

I think that this is the most ENTERTAINING demo ever made. Many other coders didn't like this demo as they found it too easy to code. Still, there haven't been any similiar demos relased! (Or at least none of them have been even close to this one) One of few demos which you can show for people not usually interested in the world of computers. This also became the last demo from Lone Starr. (Wizard)

WhatIsIt? : This sort of demo is what the Amiga was made for: brilliant smooth graphics & impressive effects & sound to match. Amazing it all fits onto less than a disk. Even though released in 94, it's a demo any Amigan would be proud to have. Excellent even on a standard 1200.

Nexus 7 is great! (Zerox/Iris in DISC 10)

Genre : Multifile-Demo (HD) (3d)

WhatIsIt? : Another amazing demonstration from the finnish group Virtual Dreams. This time they really try to aim high by putting in hundreds of different routines. Unfortunately it ends up with an average design. A very annoying fact is that the first music stops abruptly. This could of course have been forced by the demo-deadline at TheParty4.

Overall it is still an impressive demo with really good coding. (But, where are the credits??)

WhatIsIt? : One of the best coders ever once again proved he should be on top. This demo is a sequel to the winning demo at TheParty3 (Complex, Origin). I really like the way Gengis is handling vectors and texturemapped stuff. He seems to be a really mathematic kind of person!?! This demo finished number two on TheParty4 and I guess it was the DOOM-clone part that really set the voters on fire. Later on they have also released a DOOM type-of game called Fears. Go and buy it and do these fellows a favour! (Wizard)

WhatIsIt? : The second generation of Silents Denmark decided to bring back some of the lost Silents glory. This demo maybe isn't any success but although I think it proves that Silents still is to be counted on. Nice introduction-animation! Followups in the "kitchen" series promised. Has this "kitchen" stuff anything to do with Anarchys old demo named "In The Kitchen"? (Wizard)

WhatIsIt? : An atmospheric, if gory beginning to this demo gives it a flying start. Generally speaking, it contains effects that have been done before, but has done them so well, and so smooth (even on a standard A1200). Colourful, flowing, and well presented. (Kenji Irie)

One of the most atmospheric demos ever, nice music (timed) and graphic, nice routines!

WhatIsIt? : This demo has set the standard for forthcoming demo releases. Professionally presented, this demo achieves near perfection in all parts, and flows exquisitely between sections. The demo is presented almost entirely in 2x2 pixel mode, but do not let this fool you - Bumpmapped lightsourced objects look brilliant. The demo contains a lot of 3d object manipulations, and amazing tunnel sequences, and has a brilliant thumping and atmospheric soundtrack to go with it. (Kenji Irie)

WhatIsIt? : Obviously made for fun (I hope so!)! You have to understand Polish to understand the song (and most people don't), which is probably funny. The only thing that saves this demo IS the music, that is if you understand the Polish language. Else nothing saves it! The graphic is very UGLY! It's a lot of pictures which looks like my very first drawings in DPaint. I would call this an ugly "slideshow" with strange sounds...

Boy it's ugly :)! Probably funny? (Dr.Dreyer)

WhatIsIt? : Must have been a small party since it was placed 2nd... Most of routines are a little too slow to be nice (for example a rotating texture-tunnel, a "party twister" and some nice but slow "rings in water" effects). Furthermore there's a transparent skull and a plasma-like effect which is mirrored.
The music is a piece of "dreamy" techno, the graphic is below average. (Dr.Dreyer)

WhatIsIt? : Was disqualified by the jury selecting the demos at the Assembly '96! The reason why, is (source: ROM 8):

"Eye Q & Stargazer, both jury experts, thought that the Ram Jam contribution was way too ugly to present to the masses". I don't understand that (neither do Ram Jam and many others)! This demo is good! If it really IS true that that was what happened, they (the jury) should leave the Scene forever (or stop being bribed!); (Dr.Dreyer)
