

Font History

These fonts were developed to be used with Adobe Type Manager (ATM) running under Windows 3.0. They are Type 1 compatible, and fully scalable. I generated these fonts first on a Mac computer for my own use and soon found that other users became interested on them. I have then decided to make them available to the general public via electronic Bulletin Boards.

Copying and Distributing this package

Feel free to copy and distribute these fonts. I only ask that you include all the files included in this original package, including this read_1st.wri file.

Font Installation

Since these fonts are to be used with ATM, I suppose that most users will have the ATM User Guide. Please follow the instructions in this manual to add fonts to your system. If you have misplaced this guide, here are some brief instructions:

1. Make sure that you are running Windows and have ATM installed.
2. Start the ATM control Panel by clicking on the ATM icon.
3. Click the add button
4. Make sure that the "Target directories" offered is where you want to store your new fonts. C:\PSFONTS (for Postscript outline fonts) and C:\PSFONTS\PFM (for metric fonts) works just fine.
5. Insert the diskette with these new fonts on the appropriate drive and select this drive from the Directories list box. If you have them on a directory, make sure to click on this directory so the window on the left will list the available fonts for installation.
6. Select the fonts that you would like to add (block with your mouse) and click add.
7. Installation is complete, but you must restart your windows session for changes to take effect. When you run your windows applications, you should have all your new fonts available for your work.

This Package

Included in this package are the following fonts: Arenski, Chopin, Debussy, Khachaturian (all caps), and Paganini. If you find these fonts useful, enjoy them. I plan to generate more fonts in the near future and of course I would appreciate an encouragement. I will accept donations. This will compensate me for the many hours of work that went into the preparation of this package. $ 10 is a suggested amount, but any other will also be acceptable.

Order Additional Fonts

If you would like to order more fonts from me, please send a check for $15 ($20 for 3.5" disks) and I will send you a diskette full of more fonts.
