How to play SinkSub

The goal of this game is to destroy the hostile mean submarines, and try to stay alive while doing it. At your disposal, you have a minesweeper and the swedish marine's latest weapon, the subsensitive sinkbomb. Hey, don't laugh, they're pretty sophisticated handled right ! They work like this, if touched by a hard surface, (such as a subshell), they'll explode. This mean, it's up to you to drop them at the right time. The number of currently available sinkbombs is shown in the status bar. The number of sinkbombs is not limited, but you can only have a limited number of sinkbombs in the water. If the bombnumber reads zero you'll have to wait until a sinkbomb explode, then a new bomb will be reloaded. The amount of sinkbombs will differ from level to level.

The submarines will try to bomb you out of the skies with their boatsensitive floatmines. These floatmines are faster than your sinkbombs and often appear in larger amounts. - I wouldn't trust a sub passing by just below my hull if I were you ! If you get blown away by a floatmine, and you sure will, the same level restarts and you'll have to go for it again, hoping that the subs will be nicer to you this time. When you start a new game you have three lifes, as seen on the status bar, but you can earn more lifes by being a good bomber, (or by eating lot's of vegetables or never to walk under ladders or ...).

The points you get by bombing a sub depends on the sub's depth and speed. The highest points you can get for one sub is 3000, the lowest is 100. For every 25000 points you'll get an additional life.

If the aeroplane with the banner hits a bird, then your score will be reduced. The aeroplane only shows up when there are few submarines left and after a certain time. This feature only exist in the unregistered version and will not bother you in the full registered version.

Shareware Concept

The shareware concept is a 'try before you buy' system of purchasing quality software. Instead of paying a relatively large sum of money to buy a commercial product, and then find out its not what you need, shareware is different. Shareware allows you a trial period, usually 30-90 days, to see if the software meets your needs, or brings you enjoyment. If you continue to use the software beyond the author's trial period, you are expected to pay the registration fee. Some shareware products offer additional features and/or support when you register. By registering you encourage the author to produce more quality software at very affordable prices.
