1.29 Introduction

Welcome to the Amiga Demo List. This is a comprehensive listing of available demos, intros and music disks for the Amiga series computer.

Goals of this list:

- o A precise listing of what demos work on what models, and what is required to make them work. Factors such as CHIP mem, FAST mem, processor models and configurations and disk drives are taken into consideration.
- o An indexed listing of all Amiga demos according to the group that produced them.
- o An indexed listing of all Amiga demos released at the various parties and competitions held around the world each year.
- o To increase awareness of the Amiga demo scene, and to encourage demo coders to produce demos that work on ALL Amigas (by listing all the Amigas that their past productions fail to run on).
- o To increase Internet distribution of ALL Amiga demos.

Please upload this to your favorite local bulletin board so those without net access can also benefit from it!

1.33 FTP sites

Many of the demos listed within this document can be found on various FTP sites on the Internet. The two most popular are Aminet and Funet. If a demo in this list can be found on either of these sites, it will contain path and filename information.

Aminet:

Aminet is not one site, but rather a collection of sites worldwide who mirror their files daily. The following sites are part of Aminet. Please only use the site that is nearest to you.

Scandinavia	ftp.luth.se	130.240.18.2	pub/aminet/
Switzerland	litamiga.epfl.ch	128.178.151.32	pub/aminet/ (*)

Australia	splat.aarnet.edu.au	192.107.107.6	pub/aminet/ (*)

(*) closed 6:30am to 4pm weekdays

Filename references on Aminet will use the form /pub/aminet/... .

Funet:

Located in Finland, Funet (ftp.funet.fi) contains a large collection of Amiga demos. The majority of demos are in the directory /pub/amiga/demos.

For additional information on FTP, please read the FTP.FAQ, posted bi-weekly to the comp.sys.amiga.misc newsgroup.

1.34 Notes on Compatibility

Notes on Compatibility

Demos that are contained as AmigaDOS executable files (eg. file demos, intros, etc.) will often have additional information following in parentheses. These may be:

address	The demo has been packed/crunched in such a way that when executed, the demo unpacks to a specific location in your Amiga's memory, overwriting whatever information was there.
relocator	The demo has either not been packed, or has been packed in such a way that it depacks to a relocatable address. Either way, the demo shouldn't overwrite any preallocated memory.

Please note that different packers may have been used on different copies of the demo, and many packed files can be unpacked and saved as a normal executable, but that shouldn't affect the information listed.

no exit The demo either doesn't allow one to exit or resets your Amiga upon completion.

exit The demo allows an exit back to the AmigaOS. A (address, exit) combination will probably result in a system crash soon after running the demo, while a (relocator, exit) combination should allow use of the Amiga after running with no ill effects.

It should also be noted that if a demo has been tested (and works) on a system with a higher processor/OS version/etc. it will probably work on yours. For example, a demo that works on an A3000 will probably work on any A500.

Also note that the vast majority of demos were written on and for PAL systems, and many require PAL to run.

1.35 Parties

Parties are becoming a more common occurrence in the demo scene ←
. They
often hold various competitions for demos, intros, mods, and graphics, with the top finishers winning some amount of money or goods. The list below contains some of the larger parties, with the entries in the demo and intro competitions indexed according to placement.

"Quartex Silents Anarchy, The Party 1991"

The Party 1991 was held between December 27th and 29th, 1991 in Aars, Denmark. At that time the C64 was still well represented at parties, and the demo competitions for the C64 and Amiga were almost the same size. 1250 people visited the party, which made it quite a big party. It has since only been exceeded by The Party II.

Not much information was written down about the Party in 1991, only the 2 demos with the highest ranking. Odyssey was a long demo, a kind of space quest, and Hard Wired placed Silents on top of the charts for years!

1.40 The Party 1992

"Crystal Silents Anarchy, The Party 1992, Part II, The Final"

The Party II, a demo coders' gathering was held between December 27th and 29th, 1992 in Aars, Denmark.

2500 scene people from the whole world visited the party, which confirmed its status as an international party, and the biggest one.

Three types of demos were submitted: demo and intro competitions, and other releases. The intros are smaller than 40KBytes. The releases didn't participate any competitions, and consist mostly of disk-mags and compilation disks.

A general rule for productions for the competitions was that they should run on an A500 with 1MB of memory, either 1MB chip ram, or with 0.5MB chip ram and 0.5MB fast ram.

The party also hosted music and graphics competition and competitions for the C64 and IBM-compatibles.

Amiga releases were contributed to the FUNET Archive by SauberSound <sauber@iesd.auc.dk>.

NOTES: These demos were tested on my 25mhz A3000 with 2megs chip ram and 4megs fast ram. I also have my system set to default to PAL mode (via jumper on the motherboard).

Relokick - This boots your A3000 in WB1.3. This program loads the kickstart 1.3 into different locations in memory which tends to give different results even with the same demo.

(available on Aminet in utils/misc as kick13.dms)

Degrader (version 1.3) - I use '50hz system', 'nocache',
'1 meg chip', 'priviledged'
(available on Aminet in utils/misc as degrader13.lzh)

'NOPE' - This means I couldn't find a way to make the demo work. By 'work' I mean that the majority of the demo works.

'-A500' - I could not get this demo to work on my A500 either!
A500 configuration - 1meg agnus/no fast ram.

The recommended boot method may not be the only way to get a demo to work but (in my opinion) is the best way/most compatible way to get the demo to work properly.

PLEASE! If you have found a repeatable way to make any of the above 'NOPE' demos work on your A3000 then let me know so that I can update this list.

Damage Group Information

Finnish group of 14 members, concentrating on fun & good membership relations and an occasional release. Currently frequency of releases limited by lack of sufficient coding-power resulting from coders' boring real-life obligations (civil service, final exams and such). Coders interested in joining, contact us! (Preferably finns).
