

This script shows how to use StuffIt (and its add match capabilities) as a backup program.

When compiled as a "droplet", this script will stuff those items dropped on it (and in subfolders) that have been modified in the last week. You could also modify this script for other time periods.