

Like all of the other spicy titles, SPICY MYSTERY STORIES featured its own strip--comic strip, that is. This was launched with the August 1937 issue and had the ungainly title of "Olga Mesmer, The Girl With the X-Ray Eyes". A handy attribute to have in a spicy pulp, though probably of more use to men than women. Although her adventures ranged all the way to Venus and Mars, "Olga Mesmer" holds the dubious distinction of being the only spicy strip to be cancelled, disappearing after its final appearance in the October 1938 issue.
