

The final issue of SAUCY MOVIE TALES, January-February 1938, shows how much the magazine had changed from its beginnings. Whereas early issues featured women with bare breasts and wisps of cloth around their hips, being fondled either by themselves or willing male helpers, this final issue shows a woman wearing a suit of armor! Plus, armed with a rapier, she seems capable of scaring off all but the most determined of fondlers. Talk about safe sex! Still, given that this is SAUCY MOVIE TALES, not some pulp named HISTORICALLY ACCURATE ARMOR TALES, her armor doesn't appear to be the most practical protection ever designed.