Well...My full name is Daniel Patrick Sian Doherty. I was born in Ireland in the city of Connaught in 1946. My family moved to the U.S. in 1951. And I and my Older Brother settled in Nevada.

After graduating from California Institute of Technology with my Masters Degree in Applied Physics I joined the U.S.Navy. After applying for and being accepted for Pilot Training, I became a Fighter Pilot and was immediately shipped off to Viet-Nam where I served 2 tours of Duty. I returned to the U.S. and was stationed at Miramar.

After 15 years I retired from the Navy and applied at the New York School of Art. I became a Freelance Sci-Fi Illustator (I adore Sci-Fi Art)for almost 6 years. I became interested in Computer graphics through a close friend of mine and eventually acquired a small computer (a 75 mghz) and Corel 3. This has started a love affair between the computer and I and Graphics Arts.

During this time I met my wife (Kari) and married her, I now have two wonderful children (and a great big puppy). I now reside in Washington State and continue to pursue my career in graphics Arts.
