Definition of Shareware

Shareware distribution gives users a chance to try software before buying it. If you try a Shareware program and continue using it, you are expected to register. Individual programs differ on details -- some request registration while others require it, some specify a maximum trial period. With registration, you get anything from the simple right to continue using the software to an updated program with printed manual.

Copyright laws apply to both Shareware and commercial software, and the copyright holder retains all rights, with a few specific exceptions as stated below. Shareware authors are accomplished programmers, just like commercial authors, and the programs are of comparable quality. (In both cases, there are good programs and bad ones!) The main difference is in the method of distribution. The author specifically grants the right to copy and distribute the software, either to all and sundry or to a specific group. For example, some authors require written permission before a commercial disk vendor may copy their Shareware.

Shareware is a distribution method, not a type of software. You should find software that suits your needs and pocketbook, whether it's commercial or Shareware. The Shareware system makes fitting your needs easier, because you can try before you buy. And because the overhead is low, prices are low also. Shareware has the ultimate money-back guarantee -- if you don't use the product, you don't pay for it.

Dimensia 3D Image Album & Screen Saver Registration Information

This "shareware version" of the Dimensia 3D Image Album & Screen Saver is provided at no charge to the user for evaluation. Feel free to share it with your friends, but please do not give it away altered or as part of another system. The essence of "user-supported" software is to provide personal computer users with quality software without high prices, and yet to provide incentive for programmers to continue to develop new products. You are encouraged to pass this sharware version along to your friends for evaluation. Please encourage them to register their copy if they find that they can use it.

If you find this package useful and find that you are using it after a reasonable trial period (60 days maximum), you must make a registration payment of $24.95 to Rhode Island Soft Systems, Inc. The registration fee will license one copy for use on any one computer at any one time, and ensure that you will receive a fully registered, enhanced version of the software on CD-ROM.

Please refer to the file REGISTER.WRI for a complete registration form.

Benefits of Registrations

What will registration yield?   First and foremost, registered users are sent a CD-ROM containing the registered version of the software, with the additional stereogram images   Besides rightfully paying for a product that is being used, a user will also receive some very important benefits.

Upon receiving a registration, Rhode Island Soft Systems, Inc. will   immediately   return   a written receipt, a letter of acknowledgment thanking the user for registering the software, and literature on any special offers available at the time of registration.

The user is immediately placed in our database of registered users from which we generate mailing lists for our newsletter which is used to announce upgrades to our products, or new products altogether. This is very important since many users have registered "old" versions of our software, not knowing that a newer version was available. We were able to provide them with a new version which they might not have received otherwise.

Registered users are provided with discounts on other products, as they are released, as well as limited-time special offers that we are able to grant at the time of registration. (In the past we've been able to grant major discounts on several different magazines, free subscriptions to CompuServe, free CompuServe usage credits, and more!)

Registered   users are encouraged to take advantage of our Corporate BBS. Of course, your registrations provide us with the capital necessary for us to continue providing new screen savers as well as other new products.

While we courteously answer all letters we receive, registered users are provided with the highest possible degree of customer support for their questions and concerns.
