

The strength of an electromagnet increases if:

- a) the current increases in the coil.
- b) the number of coils increases.
- c) the poles are brought closer together.