

Executive Boardroom

Your Inside Track to Sun's Financial Community

Executive-level managers need to understand the business impact of new technologies. The Executive Boardroom Program was created to help you do just that. This peer-level membership community provides a forum where select leaders can share perspectives on how technology affects their organizations. Executive Boardroom members in the financial industry, like you, can receive additional industry-specific financial content and exclusive invitations to executive discussions, tailored to your unique business needs.

Don't miss the opportunity to join me and the Sun management team as we engage in ongoing discussions about using the network to save money, build the business faster, and get a jump on the competition.

Scott McNealy
Chairman and CEO
