

68 Time Warner

One of the most exciting new sites on the Web, Time Warner features an excellent (if modestly hostile) graphical front end to a number of company offerings. Get up-to-the-minute news, and peruse Warner publications such as Time and Entertainment Weekly.
URL=http://patfinder.com/

72 RockWeb

Originally called RockNet, this site hosts pages for a few bands and provides some interesting links to other music sites. Check out an experimental page for live chatting with other RockWebbers pages for bands including Blues Traveler, the Spin Doctors, and the Black Crowes; and a downloadable archive of photographs of musicians.
URL=http://www.rocknet/

76 Fox Broadcasting

Fox and the Web are natural partners because so many student contributors are fans of the network's shows. This collection of fan material is often better than the programs themselves. View pictures of Kelly Bundy. Link to three separate Simpsons sites. Or check out SpellingLand or info on 30/210, Melrose Place, and Models, Inc.

80 Star Trek Generations

If you're thinking of launching a big-budget movie, check out how Viacom promoted its "Jim meets Jean-Luc" spectacle. (And if you think there's no advertising on the Web, think again.) Travel at warp speed to this graphics-rich site with multiple pictures, behind-the-scenes information, and downloadable graphics, sound, and video files.

73 British Broadcasting Corp.

The BBC in all its splendor, complete with schedules of programs, ticket information, and other (rather) lively bits. Learn what might have been had Paul Revere stayed comfortably at home. There are detailed pages on some smashing radio shows, selections of shows currently on the telly, plus Caversham Dates and other political news archives.
URL=http://www.bbc.org.uk/bbcvt/

77 Games Domain

Take a break from the daily grind in these FAQs, FTP locations, and Web sites featuring all kinds of games—board, computer, card, you name it. Play around with a link to an interactive Battleships game. Info about role-playing games, as well as newsgroup questions and answers about games, Place, and Models, Inc.
URL=http://wchsbham.ac.uk/GamesDomain

79 Ultimate TV List

For links to anything on the Internet about network TV shows, this is the page to visit. You get FTP and newsgroup archives, plus Web and Gopher sites galore. Tune in for alphabetical listings from the Animatrix to The Young and the Restless; frequent updates, with pages added constantly, and listings by category and type of resource.
URL=http://thetvnet.net/UTV/utv.html/

70 Friends of the Earth

This site resides on a server in the U.K., but its focus is truly global. If you're interested in environmental issues worldwide, this is the place to be. With a link to Friends of the Earth International, a what's-new page, and environmental campaign details, this site will help you and Mother Earth stay on good terms.
URL=http://www.foe.co.uk/

71 America's Cup

Sailing fans unite! Especially those with expensive tastes. This site features everything you want to know about the America's Cup race: the event's history, a photo album of participants and vessels, a glossary, and an opinion poll.
URL=http://www.wac95.org/

75 MPEG Movie Archive

This Dutch site features MPEG movies you can download and play on your PC if you have an MPEG player. There's a supermodel collection for those who haven't seen enough of Cindy Crawford, some excellent animation and space clips, and a limited selection of movie and music sound clips.
URL=http://www.gebedel.net/mpeg/index.html

78 Cardiff Movie Database

There are a lot of books and CD-ROMs that provide movie information, but both cost money. The Cardiff University database is phenomenal, with details and reviews of thousands of movies, plus downloadable graphics and sound. You can even vote for your likes and dislikes.
URL=http://www.cmu.ac.uk/Movies/

81 O.J. Simpson Trial

Nope, you can't just turn off the TV to escape; it's on the Web as well. There are actually several O.J. sites, including a jpe page, but this one's more serious. Get official articles from the San Francisco Examiner, interesting interviews about the case, and links to other O.J. sites.
URL=http://spgale.com/examiner/oj/index.html

82 Condom Country

The merits of this site are perhaps best left undescribed. But for the adventurous, it's a superb example of how to design a site for a market niche. Grab your shopping bag and head to the checkout counter, where you can receive product information, get return-policy details, and pick up a form to set up an individual account.
URL=http://www.wag.com/104CondomCountry/

83 Tour de France Page

This cycling event might be small potatoes in North America, but it's huge in Europe. This page gives you all you need to find out what the jersey colors mean, plus TV schedules for keeping up with the Tour, detailed course maps, team lineups, and the latest race results.
URL=http://tobisued.net/news

84 Sony Online

Wanna see what the really big music companies are pulling on the Web? Sony's as big as they get, and its site has good and bad points. This will eventually be the site for all Sony entertainment, with information on new releases and artists and a valuable catalog of titles in print. But bae the press releases, folks.
URL=http://mach1.musicsony.com/indexalle.html

86 New Zealand Symphony Orchestra

The first symphony orchestra on the Web by its own claim, the New Zealand Symphony Orchestra offers the kind of information you'd likely find in performance programs: symphonies around the world, history of the New Zealand Symphony Orchestra, employment opportunities, and viola jokes (in case you didn't think they existed).

90 The Wine Page

Wine lovers will appreciate the University of Washington's World Wide Wine Page. Visit tasting archives to browse hundreds of tasting notes and add some of your own, tour Washington wineries, get answers to FAQs, and even join a Virtual Tasting group. But remember: No virtual driving if you're taking part in the virtual tasting.
URL=http://aigustus.ccs.washington.edu/personal/bigstar-mosaic/wine.html

91 The Download Bookstore

Bibliophiles: Like to browse before you buy? The Download Bookstore from Dial-a-Book is a new Web-based bookstore that posts chapters and tables of contents for hundreds of books: computer files, children's books, and works from leading university presses. It uses Adobe Acrobat 2.0, so any platform will do.
URL=http://debps.net/DownloadBookstore/

93 CDnow/The Internet Music Store

Can't stand the hoards of teenyboppers at local music stores? Tune in to CDnow! To order CDs and read music magazines online. Browse through more than 140,000 CDs, cassettes, and minidisks. Participate in discussion groups with other customers.
URL=http://cdnow.com

96 National Hockey League

The main repository of NHL information comes, naturally, from Hawaii. Complete with pictures of Wayne Gretzky and Mario Lemieux, individual team pages, links to pages around the Web, and details on the 1993-1994 Stanley Cup playoffs. This page offers hours of material.
URL=http://maxwell.hawaii.edu/hockey/hockey.html

85 The Rolling Stones

Once again demonstrating their street-fightin', bad-boy ways, the Stones have opened a Web site. Get information on an MEOE concert multimed, plus a merchandise catalog, sound samples, and reader-contributed fiction.
URL=http://www.stones.com/

87 Allegro Music

This major U.S. distributor of classical music has a Web site with lots to offer. Fire up that WAV player, then sit back and listen to sound samples accompanied by extensive text explanation. You can also view catalogs of jazz and spoken-word recordings, as well as guides to new releases.
URL=http://www.teleport.com/~allegro/

88 World of Jazz Improvisation

This page fronts some extremely detailed music course material. But if you're into jazz of any kind, you'll love the links to other pages, such as discographies of jazz greats and information about music from Peru and China. An excellent primer on jazz music and artists.
URL=http://www.wisc.edu/edu/jazz/

89 Internet Roundtable

The first live, weekly interview talk show has reached the Web. It features authors, policy-makers, cultural luminaries, and original thinkers. Recent guests include David Gergen, former adviser to President Clinton; Susan Sternberg, National Public Radio correspondent; and Frances Moore Lappé, author of Diet for a Small Planet. Tune in Wednesday nights at 10 p.m. (EST).
URL=http://www.Society.com/

92 Warner Brothers Records

Still think the Bee Gees really groove? Visit Warner Brothers Records' home page to find out what's hot in the music world. Get a list of RBW's 1996 world tour dates, a 30-second Madonna video, bios of Eric Clapton and other Warner artists, and other rock lore.
URL=http://www.uma.com/Warner/

94 Interactive Media Festival

You don't need to go to Los Angeles to witness next month's annual Interactive Media Festival (June 5 to 10). See the best of interactive arts and media development via your PC. This year's competition will actually be judged online within the "Jury Chamber" of this Web site.
URL=http://www.irc.org

95 Internet Express

This well-stocked gopher site has everything from entertainment archives to literature and magazine collections to business statistics. Check out the Nielsen Ratings, read excerpts from The New Yorker, or listen to Star Trek sound files to hear Scotty's accent once more.
URL=http://ib.cscs.com

97 The Virtual Flyshop

A superb site for anyone interested in fly-fishing, or anyone who simply wants to see the right way to build a Web site. Reel in fishing videos in the Movie Theatre, plus information on knots, and links to newsgroups and magazine-style articles. There's even a fish scale to compare your prize catches with photos from other braggers.
