@art	http://gertrude.art.uiuc.edu/@art/gallery.html	This virtual gallery is a University of Illinois–sponsored forum for the presentation of art exhibits. You'll get some cutting-edge ideas about art and how to show it best on-line.
The Cisco Educational Archive	http://sunsite.unc.edu/cisco/cisco-home.html	Here's a good-looking collection of jumps to home pages that will appeal to students in the K–12 range.
City Lights Publishers and Booksellers	http://town.hall.org/places/city_lights/	Browse the shelves of San Francisco's funkiest bookstore, the home of Allen Ginsberg, Jack Kerouac, and other Beat poets.
City.Net	http://www.city.net/	These pages present guides to several major American cities. The information varies in quality and depth.
Games Domain	http://wcl-rs.bham.ac.uk/GamesDomain	The Games Domain is a one-stop location for information about and links to computer games as well as on-line Internet role-playing games.
HotWired	http://www.hotwired.com	Wired magazine's on-line equivalent is a great Web implementation that gives a taste of what to expect from on-line magazines in the future. Subscriptions are free, but you must sign up.
Hype ElectraZine	http://www.phantom.com/~giant/hype.html	This is currently one of the coolest e-zines on-line, with some dazzling graphics, terrifically entertaining content, and links to the netherworld of the Web.
Interesting Places for Kids	http://www.crc.riohh.com/people/steve/kids.html	If you have school-age kids, take advantage of this list of links to hundreds of fun places to explore.
Internet Movie Database Browser	http://www.msstate.edu/Movies/moviequery.html	It's not as engaging as the Cinemania CD-ROM, but it's currently the best on-line database of films you can find on the Web.
Internet Underground Music Archive	http://www.iuma.com	This is where independent bands post songs, photos, and info. It is searchable in several categories.
Lego	http://legowww.homepages.com	Here's a good example of a home page that mixes marketing, fun, and fanaticism. It's all the latest Lego news that's fit to download.
Megadeth Arizona	http://bazaar.com/Megadeth/megadeth.html	This page is much more than a fan club for the heavy-metal band. It's a great-looking, colorful virtual town. Horoscopes are included.
Mercury Center Web	http://www.sjmercury.com	The Mercury News site is one of the first on-line versions of a newspaper—and it's still the best. Expect to find lots of extra information that doesn't make it into the print version.
MIT Science Fiction Library	http://www.mit.edu:8001/pinkdex	Science fiction fans will appreciate this searchable on-line card catalog. It's not pretty, but the information is good.
The Nine Planets	http://seds.lpl.arizona.edu/nineplanets/nineplanets/nineplanets.html	Visit here for a dazzling multimedia tour of our solar system, complete with lots of color photos. The whole thing is very impressive.
Time Magazine	http://www.timeinc.com/time/universe.html	Cool graphical menus take you through Time magazine on-line and to other Time Inc. publications.
Tower Records	http://www.shopping2000.com/shopping2000/tower/	This site simulates the electronic record catalogs you find in Tower stores, and you can order merchandise, too.
Ultimate Band List	http://american.recordings.com/wwwofmusic/ubl.html	There's no better resource for quickly finding information about your favorite musicians than this A-to-Z listing. There are links to hundreds of bands in all musical styles.
Ultimate TV List	http://www.tvnet.com/cgi-bin/imagemap/menu?267,241	Turn off the TV, turn on the PC, and explore links to home pages for hundreds of TV shows—both current and classic.
Underground Net	http://bazaar.com/underground.html	It bills itself as "anarchy at its worst" If you're adventurous, you'll appreciate the bizarre, strange, and cool places this page takes you.
Warner Bros. Records	http://www.iuma.com/Warner/	One of the best of many record-company home pages. There is no shortage of musical downloads available from your favorite recording stars.
Web Museum	http://mistral.enst.fr/	This is one of the best current examples of displaying artwork on-line. Great graphics of the Louvre collection are available for those with the patience to download them.
Windham Hill Records	http://www.windham.com/	The Windham Hill site is as good-looking as the album covers. It includes a full catalog of available titles, and sound clips are yours for the downloading.
World Wide Web of Sports	http://tns-www.lcs.mit.edu/cgi-bin/sports	While not ABC's "Wide World of Sports," this is one of the most complete one-stop sports pages, and there are links to take you all over the sports world.
