

IBM GroupWare

IBM's strategy, which seeks to integrate host-based and client/server mail systems, is built on the messaging and queuing capabilities of the multiprotocol MQSeries message-transfer agent. The goal of the system is "assured delivery" of all message-routed information.

