

Distribution Agreement

If you wish to distribute “Utility Belt” shareware edition over the internet, by floppy disk, CD-ROM or by any other means then you must agree to the following:

- 1) You may not charge any money for the product. It is not yours to sell, rent or lease.
- 2) You must distribute the product in its original form - the archive file containing all the data, application and other files, including this text file and the ORDER.DOC file.
- 3) You may not separate any of the components that make up the product (applications, data files, graphics, other files) and distribute them separately.
- 4) You may not alter any of the files that comprise the product in any way.
- 5) By not following any of the above points you are committing an offence and will be prosecuted.