

was made possible to me by the recent excavation of part of the wall to the foundation on the native rock. You know the superb fitting of the various joints of the wall be be. Well - when I got to the rock surface - I found the ~~horizontal~~^{surface} cleavage of its beds seen from above, thus: A B is the line of the wall built and the rock they were built it of and on,

 was ^{never} imitated
 by them.
