This indicates if the balloon system is active or not.   (These two fields have a hidden button on top of them so the same help message will display no matter what field the cursor is over.)