

David Young

Assistant Manager, Public Relations
Nintendo of America Inc.
Redwood City, California

David Young, a Nintendo veteran of more than 20 years, began his Nintendo career as a consumer service representative and game counselor. He has leveraged his extensive gaming experience in various roles over the years, sharing Nintendo products with North American consumers of all ages and skill levels. Young enthusiastically continues to practice Nintendo's corporate value of bringing smiles to everyone.

Young received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Western Washington University. A long-time and avid gamer, he considers Super Metroid his favorite title.