

Television, Movies and Theatre
////////////////////

What's On Tonight!
<http://tvnet.com/WhatsOnTonight/index.html>

A free electronic version of "TV Guide" It offers program descriptions and times as well as plot summaries for each show. The viewing list can be seen as listed by time, listed by category or listed by Network carrier. This is a well done service that will have you surfing it for all your TV schedule needs quite often once you get "hooked". The ultimate digital TV Guide.

CBS Eye on the Net
<http://cbs-tv.tiac.net:80/>

Has links to CBS related TV program info plus a listing of TV shows and their respective times. Also has a link to "What's On" television listing.

BBC Home Page
<http://www.bbcnc.org.uk/>

A listing and guide to offerings from the BBC Television network and also has a guide to the BBC Radio network of programming. Jolly good!

The M*A*S*H FTP Archive site
FTP to: rtfm.mit.edu /pub/usenet/news.answers/tv/mash

Everything you wanted to know about the TV show M*A*S*H and more...

StarTrek: Voyager WWW site
<http://voyager.paramount.com>

A virtual and trippy tour of the USS Voyager. The user becomes a "virtual" crew member and interacts with this fantastic Web page. This is one of the coolest web pages around even you're not a StarTrek fan - try this out!

Disney/Buena Vista
<http://bvp.wdp.com/BVPM/index.html>

Great site - but not for the bandwidth impaired.

Cinema Sites
http://www.vir.com/VideoFilm/daidaug/Movie_Sites.html

Great guide to all sorts of TV and movie sources on the World Wide Web.

Mr. Showbiz

<http://web3.starwave.com/showbiz/>

A great source of info, articles and reviews of films and the film industry
This happens to be a first outing from Paul Allen's newly created Starwave Corporation and is in indeed a very good offering. Slick and well done.

Science Fiction ftp site
ftp to: elbereth.rutgers.edu

Plot summaries galore for most science-fiction television shows including Star Trek, Twilight Zone and Outer Limits shows. Many others.

Current Video Releases
<http://sfgate.com/~sfchron/movies/videoguide.html>
Now if they would only deliver too...

Buena Vista Movieplex International
<http://www.disney.com>
<http://bvp.wpd.com/BVPM/>

A movie preview center that includes clips from Disney, Touchstone and Hollywood Pictures releases. A 14.4K connection is a little too slow for this (you can try...) so a T1 or higher connection is recommended. If you have "pipes" this site is awesome - if not - then browse elsewhere...

Simpson's Home page
<http://www.digimark.net/TheSimpsons>

For those that find the half hour show just isn't enough.

Film Comment
<http://www.interactive.line.com/film/cover.html>

A bi-monthly publication put out by The Film Society of Lincoln Center. This e-zine has reviews and articles that deal with both the standard Hollywood fare and other interesting and unique films that are off the beaten path. Even B-Movies get their due here. A witty and info-packed publication, Film Comment should be on every movie buff's read list.

Ultimate TV list
<http://cinenet.net/UTVL/utvl.html>

Interactive TV Index
<http://cinenet.net/ITVG/itvg.html>

You'll be so busy surfin' these pages you'll have no time to watch TV

David Letterman ftp site
FTP to: quartz.rutgers.edu then cd to --> /pub/tv+movies/letterman
The definitive Letterman site. Top ten lists and everthing!

Fates of Dragon's Lair

Telnet to: 204.156.18.1 7777, 5000, or 3000

Online theater group that performs at the Theater of the Absurd (TOTA)
The theater is part of the Rivendale Chatlines and uses ASCII art as a backdrop and scenery during plays. Now this is a drive-in movie.

WXYC Radio

<http://sunsite.unc.edu/wxyc>

Student run campus radio station that also broadcasts over the net.
You'll need a Mac or Unix box with Maven and/or CU-SeeMe. Visit the station's home page for details.

The Theatre Central Web Page

<http://www.mit.edu:8001/people/quijote/theatre-central.html>

This page is "...dedicated to amateur, scholastic and professional groups, services and resources." And all related to the theatre and plays. You will not find professional playwrights here or professional production companies.
What you will find is an eclectic mix of amateur playwrights and budding theatre ideas that will have you wondering why these folks haven't made it big yet. Info to help stagehands, lighting effects personnel and scenery and props makers are all included here too. Stage makeup and all facets of play production are also addressed. You can also view articles from the publication "Theater Week" and "Drama Review". There are several cool links to other related pages and this is a fresh and ever-changing home page. Any person wanting to learn more about this art and expand the craft of plays and stage presentations would do well to visit here regularly.

Academy Award Winners and Nominees page (Cardiff's Movie Database Browser)

<http://www.cm.cf.ac.uk/Movies/Oscars.html>

<http://www.cm.cf.ac.uk/Movies>

Complete listings since the Oscars began. A searchable database that you'll find yourself using over and over and over and.... Pass the Popcorn!
Also has a huge database of movies that users get to enter their own votes of approval or disapproval. You can also add new movies to the database and assign a rating to the added film. A great place to surf to!

The Horror Web Page (The Cabinet of Dr. Casey)

<http://www.ee.pdx.edu/~caseyh/horror/horror.html>

The definitive site for horror movie info. Link to a wide variety of horror and non-horror film sources. Includes fact sheets, credits, graphic clips and sound clips. Wonderfully imaginative. BOO!

Sir Anthony Hopkins Page

<http://www.mit.edu.8001/people/douglas/hopkins.html>

Very well done page devoted to Anthony Hopkins, the actor.

Paul Corr's Tap Dance page
<http://www.hahmann.edu/tap>

The main site of this project has seven pages of assorted links! Included is the complete history of tap dancing, a tap glossary, bibliography of tap related sources, list of films that include tap dancing, theater and stage productions with tap, Internet dancing resource links, tap trivia and more. This is THE definitive tap dancing page on the web. Period.

Hollyweb
<http://www.ingress.com/users/spease.hw/hollyweb.html>

This web site states that it "...aspires to be an online film Mecca." And it does just that and more. Lots of links and info abound here and there is everything from film info to jobs open in the film industry including casting calls and more. Too much to list here but the links and info that is here is exhaustive and the site grows daily. Hoorah for Hollyweb!

Steven Wright Jokes Page
http://meer.net/~mtoy/steven_wright.html

The dry and sanguine wit of Steven Wright ala web page. Wright is a comic and though you may not have seen him in standup you might know him from his TV commercials (Office Max?).

Comedy
<http://underground.net/>

From the comedy underground comes a fun site. Something to cheer you up!

Comedy 'Zine
<http://www.cts.com/~borderline>

An electronic magazine full of comic related material. Cool!

Beavis 'n Butthead Page
<http://quadralay.com/Combs/BnB/BnB.html>

Yes - these guys have their own page. Get the skinny on these two morphs.

Comics 'n Stuff
http://www.phlab.missouri.edu/HOMES/c617145_www/comix.html

A great set of links (that's even larger than the URL address) to all sorts of comdey resources and 'net cartoons. Features a link to Dilbert.

Cathouse Comedy
FTP to: cathouse.org in the -> /pub/cathouse/humor
/pub/cathouse/standup

While you're at it check all the /humor files and then move on to all the other subdirectories (such as /standup). Quotes, jokes, one-liners and all sorts of snippets from the greats abound here. A truly fun site that is a cult classic among comedians and is a personal favorite comedy site.

Cathouse TV comedy

FTP to: cathouse.org in the --> /pub/cathouse/television

A bonanza of television comedy info. TV scripts, program guides and many TV show listings, show schedules and info on TV comic actors. In fact - while you're at it - check out all the stuff that's available at the ftp site at "cathouse.org" This is one of the best ftp sites on the net.

WWW Addict's Pop-Culture Scavenger Hunt

<http://www.galcit.caltech.edu/~ta/hunt/wwwhunt.html>

This is a wild and wacky scavenger hunt that will have you in wipe-out form as you surf the web looking for sites and clues. Several hunts are offered - some easy - and some very hard - but one thing is for sure - you'll be addicted in no time to this scavenger hunt. If you succeed then you get a chance to put your name up (or whatever else you want to put up) on the "Winner's Wall". Lots of folks like to win just so they get a chance to write graffiti on the wall. Tons of fun that will have you surfing for hours on end. Hang out the "Do Not Disturb" sign and start scavenging!

Star Wars Home Page

<http://stwing.resnet.upenn.edu:8001/~jruspini/starwars.html>

The complete Star Wars web page. All sorts of Star Wars related stuff here! This Univ of Penn site even has complete scripts to the Star Wars trilogy, film reviews and lots more. So when do they find time to study.. ?

Muppets Home Page

<http://www.ncsa.uiuc.edu/VR/BS/Muppets/muppets.html>

A fun place for kids of all ages to visit. Not only does it contain a complete listing of everything the Muppets have ever done but it has links to many other Muppet related sites as well. Henson would be proud of this.

All the Information about Seinfeld that exists on the Internet

<http://153.64.65.1:1234/>

OK - this isn't a particularly good web site. The info isn't great and the pictures and photos are kinda fuzzy... For die-hard Seinfeld fans only

Shakespeare Santa Cruz

<http://www.circus.com/~jasona/shakespeareSantaCruz.html>

A guide list to theatrical works from the Shakespeare Santa Cruz ensemble.

Television Corporation of Singapore
<http://www.technet.sg/cgi-bin/intv-form>

Technet
<http://www.technet.sg/catalog.html>

It appears INtv, as it's called, operates a videotext service, and has somehow converted this to web use. It is a unique service that is offered by no one else or any other company on the web, (as far as I know). While there, try out the Technet URL. It has a pretty good home page, with a nice set of links for fun and informative web surfing.

PBS Home Page (Public Broadcasting System)
<http://www.pbs.org>

PBS World Wide Web Home Page Offers Access to valuable PBS Information and Links to Other Public Television Web Sites. The PBS World Wide Web site is designed to provide easy access to a wealth of information related to public television. This Web site also encourages viewers to send feedback to PBS via electronic mail. Users who access PBS's neighborhood on the World Wide Web will see the widely recognized PBS logo divided into several "clickable" puzzle pieces which represent the many services that make up PBS. Each puzzle piece leads to specific categories.

Some topics included in the PBS Home page...

- * Daily Program Trivia Challenge -- Answer a question related to a national PBS program and win a PBS World Wide Web pin!
- * Programming Highlights of the Week
- * May National Program Schedule
- * June National Program Press Releases
- * C-Band Satellite Schedule: May . . . June
- * International Public Broadcasting Organizations

PBS Member Stations: New!

- * New York State Learning Link
- * KUAC (Fairbanks, Alaska)
- * KAET (Tempe/Phoenix, Arizona)
- * Many other affiliates are becoming active members! Stay tuned!

ALSO - Please visit the -
National Public Radio Online home page and gopher site <http://www.npr.org/> or
Gopher to: gopher.npr.org

This is a fully independent production of National Public Radio.

Please visit the WWW or gopher site resources for more information.

=====
=====

Multimedia/video information and Video Archives on the Internet

MPEG Video Archive (Holland, Netherlands)
<http://www.eeb.ele.tue.nl/mpeg/index.html>
<http://w3.eeb.ele.tue.nl/mpeg/index.html>

MPEG video archive at UIUC
<http://www.acm.uiuc.edu/rml/Mpeg>

Rob's New Multimedia Lab
<http://www.acm.uiuc.edu/rml>
note: this site is co-sponsored by the Association for Computing Machinery

StarTrek movie and TV site (Viacom-Paramount)
<http://generations.viacom.com>

Scientific Video archives at CRS4
Center for Advanced Studies, Research and Development: Sardinia, Italy
<http://www.crs4.it/Animate/Animations.html>

Cornell Theory Center
<http://www.tc.cornell.edu/Visualization>

NCSA Exhibits
<http://www.ncsa.uiuc.edu/General/NCSAExhibits.html>

Los Alamos National Lab video encoding and video server
<http://bang.lanl.gov/video>

MICE Seminars and Media on Demand servers
<http://www.it.kth.se/~klements/vatplay.html>

MICE (Multimedia Conferencing for Europe)
<http://www.cs.ucl.ac.uk/mice/mice.html>

MIT Laboratory for Computer Science online video
<http://www.lcs.mit.edu>
<http://tns-www.lcs.mit.edu/cgi-bin/vs/vsbrowser>
<http://tns-www.lcs.mit.edu/cgi-bin/vs/vsdemo>

MIT is experimenting with the VUSystem Application for video files. The lab is also experimenting with offering live-video via the Internet.

Internet Multicasting Service (Carl Malamud)
<http://www.town.hall.org>

Internet Talk Radio (Carl Malamud)
<http://juggler.lanl.gov/itr.html>

Video Weblog
<http://figment.fastman.com/vweb/html/vidprod.html>

A "hyper-magazine" chock full of video info.

Hollywood Online
<http://hollywood.com/>

Offerings straight from tinsel-town. Movie info and promo graphics along with all sorts of other movie hype including movie clips and trailers, sound clips, video clips and more!

Casper's Haunted House
http://www.mca.com/universal_pictures/casper

An interactive haunted house based on the new Universal Pictures release of the movie Casper (the ghost). A fun way to promote the movie! Perhaps all motion picture companies ought to take a cue from this fun site. I'm not sure how long this page will stay available but I assume it will stay up on the web at least as long as the combined movie and video rental run.

Universal V/IP (Universal Pictures)
http://www.mca.com/universal_pictures/
http://www.mca.com/universal_pictures/index.html

Info on Universal Pictures movies and new offerings. A well done site. There are Quicktime movie clips, email links to the stars of films and much more. This is one of the most visually exciting and well laid out web sites I've ever seen. Depending on the web browser you are using the page colors and backgrounds are stunning and it's evident that these pages from MCA/Universal were well thought out. You can easily forget that this site is a commercial vehicle for movie hype and just become amazed as each web page in this site rolls by quickly and beautifully as you click away. Something is always going on here and all the current Universal releases are up on web pages here along with trailers, film info and images.

Johnny Mnemonic
<http://www.mnemonic.sony.com>

Sony sure knows how to set up a web site and has some of the best pages to be seen on the WWW. This one is a tour-de-force of how a promo of a movie ala web should be done. Simply great. I hope this page stays around for a while - long past the video rental run on this movie. Very well done!

Buena Vista Pictures
<http://www.wdp.com>

I believe Buena Vista (a Disney Company) has another page or two on the web and they are certainly linked via the Disney page so why would this site also be listed here? It's new and out of the way and not a very well travelled site. The other reasons is that this page has links to press releases of upcoming and showing films (from Buena Vista), JPEG images, movie clips and it is all fairly well organized by movie title. It's not as dynamic as other major motion picture companys' pages and needs a little bit of polish. In any case - the info is good if not exciting and works fairly well with slower modem connections. Not great but not too bad...

The Lion's Den (MGM Interactive)
<http://www.digiplanet.com/MGM/>

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has set up a new site with its new MGM Interactive division. This site is exploratory (in transition) and is brand new. It is hoped that eventually this site will offer all sorts of info on the MGM film library, including new releases, info on United Artists film library and releases, MGM Worldwide Television info, MGM/UA Music and also will have info relating to the MGM/UA Licensing and Merchandising division. This new WWW site from MGM could become a great place to visit. Give it a look-see.

Internet Movie Database
<http://www.msstate.edu/Movies/>

A great database of movie titles, actors, actresses, directors, etc. This database provides forms for searching for films by title, actors and movie genre (horror, drama, comedy, etc.). Since the forms section is interactive this database is also updated by YOU because users can augment or enter new information on films. You can even offer your review of a film. This is a very well done film resource page and keeps getting better and better.

HQE Guide to Internet-Accessible Entertainment-Related Information
<http://www.fleethouse.com:80/fhcanada/western/bc/van/entertan/hqe/urqh-lnk.htm>

If you want to find out about the theatre on a world-wide basis then here is the place to start. This is the most wide ranging and complete guide to theatre and theatre related offerings on the web. Tons of links that will take you on a whirlwind tour around the world. If it has to do with theatre then you'll find it here. Way to much to list - but I encourage and nearly insist that you come to this site. A must visit * Four Star Site

Playbill Online
<http://webcom.com/~broadway/>

What's hot and what's not on Broadway. Info on current plays and theater offerings on Broadway and off Broadway. Reviews, insights, cast lists and more. Much like the printed version of this online service's namesake.

Theatre Craft International
Gopher to: gopher.eneews.com

A great magazine that's devoted to theatre special effects and theatre stage setup, backdrops, scenery, costumes, sets, lighting and lots more. Also has entries on related crafts and special effects present in video television and film. This was a most interesting magazine and even if you are not directly involved in the industry you'll find out how all those sets and special effects are created. * Truly excellent!

Broadway

<http://www.escape.com/eMall/explore/broadway/bway1.html>

Broadway plays, theater reviews, insights and tickets online. This is the "official" web site of world famous Broadway (New York, US)

London Theatre

<http://www.nag.co.uk/0/Homes/Robertl/Theatre.html>

A complete listing of theatre and theatre happenings in the London metro area. Also contains links to other theatre related info and sites.
