

Lothar's Rage

By Josh Miller

The Orcs, fervent after a small war victory against Stromgarde, have established a great barricade constructed of armored walls and fortresses near Stromgarde's main castle to keep Alliance troops out. Thoras Trollbane has been very distressed over this recent turn of events and has called upon Lothar to lead a group of Stromgardes finest warriors into the heart of the Orcs barricade.

Lothar, battle hardened and ready to wage war, has increased his Stromgarde armymen stamina and will to fight drastically. Lothar knows that if he doesn't take back the lands of the Alliance, all may be lost for Stromgarde.

Three scantily armored way points will be sufficient to gain access into the barricade, but then after entry you are on your own!

Use your armymen wisely! There are no peasants to be found, simply because they can't fight worth a damn!!

Lothar must prevail for he is the leader of the glorious Alliance!

Good Luck!!
