

PLAYMAKER FOOTBALL™ AND THE INTERNET

PLAYMAKER FOOTBALL™ NEWGROUP

The PlayMaker Football™ official newsgroup is called alt.games.playmaker-football. If your internet provider does not offer this newsgroup, request that they add it. You can find many of the latest tips and hints about coaching on the cyber-gridiron here.

PLAYMAKER FOOTBALL™ MAILING LIST

The PMFB-L mailing list at pmfb-l@en.com and pmfb-l-request@en.com information.

This mailing list is maintained for the use of the internet Playmaker Football™ community. As Playmaker Football™ has spawned numerous leagues and widespread interest, this list has been created as a focal point at which Playmaker Football™ r enthusiasts can discuss relevant topics concerning the game. These topics include, but are not limited to, leagues, technical questions, coaching, and much more.

To subscribe to this mailing list, send a piece of blank mail to pmfb-l-request@en.com with the subject title 'subscribe'.

To unsubscribe, likewise do the above, but with 'unsubscribe' in the subject header instead.

In the event of an address change, it would probably be wisest to first send an unsubscribe for the old address (this can be done from the new address), and then a new subscribe to the new address (the order is important).

Most (un)subscription requests are processed automatically without human intervention.

Every submission sent to this list is archived. You can look at the header of every mail coming from this list to see under what name it has been archived. The X-Mailing-List: field contains the mailaddress of the list and the file in which this submission was archived.

If you want to access this archive, you have to send mails to the -request address with the word "archive" as the first word of your Subject:.

To get you started try sending a mail to the -request address with the following: Subject: archive help