

When in view mode, the user may see the world either from the view point of any of the players or the world in total. Select either a player's name or a player's color from the list provided.