

Registering BulkRate

BulkRate is shareware. You may try BulkRate for free, and give copies of the unregistered application to your friends. I ask that all documentation be included if you pass it on to a friend or upload it to a BBS.

If you wish to continue using BulkRate, I ask a shareware fee of $25 US. You may mail a check or money order (or cash) to:

Greg Neagle
1924 Mentone Ave.
Pasadena, CA 91103

Include your name and return address. Indicate what name you'd like to be registered under, and what version of BulkRate you are currently using.

I will return a registration code that will turn off the "evaluation copy" messages and enable file transfers.

If you include a blank floppy and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, I will send you a copy of the latest version of BulkRate, or the next release, if one is imminent..

If you live outside of California, you may pay for BulkRate via MasterCard or Visa. Your credit statement will show a charge from "Digital Popcorn Online Services." They are the authorized reseller of BulkRate registrations.

To register via e-mail, send mail to greg\_neagle@pop.com and include Visa or MasterCard number, expiration date, and your name as it appears on your card.

If you live in the UK, you might be interested in a service provided by John R. Macrae of MacTel.

Bank charges and other costs associated with sending foreign currency overseas are a great disincentive to computer users outside the US who use the vast amount of high quality shareware which is available. John Macrae runs a non-profit making shareware payment service from the UK which caters for the needs of UK users. He will be happy to answer any questions on this service by email at the following addresses:
