This particular error is listed in Apple's documentation as some "other" exception..

What to do
Due to the very vague description of this error, you should assume that something is wrong with your system software and proceed with that in mind. Typical actions include reloading your system from a backup copy or re-installing it from the original diskettes or CD.