

Summary

This error is “reserved” by Apple. The error indicates a software problem.

Details

When Apple indicates that something is “reserved” it means that they may choose to use the error code in the future but for now, it has no meaning.

What to do

You shouldn't get this code. If you do, about the only thing you can do is contact Apple's Technical Support Center for more information. They will probably not have any, however.