• Contact Sheet is an application that will perform the task of creating Quark documents made up of a folder full of images.

• Before starting up Contact Sheet, place all of the images (up to 100) in a single folder.

• You can set an option for the file type to select within the folder.

• You can set an option for how the image will be labled within the Quark document.

• You can set an option for how the image will be scaled within the Quark document.

- You can set an option for how the rule around the containing box will look within the Quark document.

- When you start up the application, a window will provide you with the option of selecting how many images to appear on a single page.   Select (8.5" x 11")   or (11" x 17") format.   After you make your selection, Contact Sheet will prompt you to select a folder that contains the images you wish to place in Quark.
