

Charting is not installed

You requested help on Charting, however you did not install either Charting or the Charting Help file when you installed Word Pro.

If you want to use Charting or Charting Help, you can install it from your original Word Pro disks or CD ROM.

If you are using the Expert, the Expert determined that the best way to complete the task you requested is by using Charting. However, there may be other ways to do what you want. Check the list of other options in the Expert bar to see if you can use one of them.

Drawing is not installed

You requested help on Drawing, however you did not install either Drawing or the Drawing Help file when you installed Word Pro.

If you want to use Drawing or Drawing Help, you can install it from your original Word Pro disks or CD ROM.

If you are using the Expert, the Expert determined that the best way to complete the task you requested is by using Drawing. However, there may be other ways to do what you want. Check the list of other options in the Expert bar to see if you can use one of them.

Equations is not installed

You requested help on Equations, however you did not install either Equations or the Equations Help file when you installed Word Pro.

If you want to use Equations or Equations Help, you can install it from your original Word Pro disks or CD ROM.

If you are using the Expert, the Expert determined that the best way to complete the task you requested is by using Equations. However, there may be other ways to do what you want. Check the list of other options in the Expert bar to see if you can use one of them.

Help is not available

The Word Pro help files are not installed on your system. As a result, you will not be able to use Ask the Expert, or context-sensitive help.

If you want to use help or Ask the Expert, you should reinstall Word Pro, and specify that Help should be installed.

Note If you choose the Minimum installation, help is NOT installed. You can use the Custom installation option to install the help files.

