1.2 Introduction

This is my attempt at crosslinking most of my disk-based anime information. Rather than having several disks full of files with redundant information, I hope to have one excessively large hypertext index linking relevant data together.

This file is comprised of information taken from the Anime Pocket Guide (see the

Bibliography
) , plus some Usenet posts, linked together where possible. I expect to be adding more as time goes by.

I expect other people will find this Index useful even in its incomplete form (will it ever be finished? I doubt it), so I'm making it available to anyone who wants it. Distribute away.

There are two versions of this file in existence: one is in AmigaGuide; the other is on the Internet as a World Wide Web page, at <http://www.lysator.liu.se/anime/anime.guide.main.html>.

There will be a DOS or Windows version of this available whenever I find the time. Maybe a Mac one too, if possible.

Comments, suggestions, requests and so on can be sent to me at:

1.10 Bibliography

The information used in this edition of the Anime Index was gleaned from:

- Alan Takahashi's Pocket Guide to Anime, itself a compendium of assorted Usenet denizens' knowledge. I've preserved any attributions from the Guide here.
- Miscellaneous Fidonet and Usenet postings. Again, I've preserved whatever attributions possible.
- An article I wrote for Animato! magazine.

1.11 Area 88

Area 88 (TV, FILM) Genre: Drama

Cast:

Shin Kazama	Kaneto Shiozawa
Ryoko	Sakiko Tamagawa
Satoru Kanzaki (young)	Mayumi Tanaka
Buxie	Toshio Furukawa
Escape Killer #1	Shigeru Chiba

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Shin Kazama has a bright future. He is an up and coming pilot for Yamato Air Lines and has a relationship with the boss's daughter and, perhaps, is destined to head the airline someday. All this changes when his friend Kanzaki gets him drunk, and he signs a paper which enlists him in the Aslam Foreign Legion. There are 3 ways to get out: to get enough kills to buy your way out; to survive until your term is up; or escape. This is a gritty, action-oriented series with accurate depictions of military aircraft and associated hardware. Note that the movies are edited compilations from the TV series.

US Release by: US Manga Corps (subtitled)

1.12 Aura Battler Dunbine

Aura Battler Dunbine (TV, OAVs) Genre: Giant Robots

Cast:

Marvel Frozen	Mika Doi
Barn Bonnings	Shoo Hayami
Chum Huau	Maria Kawamura
Silky Mau	Keiko Yokozawa
<Unknown character>	Michie Tomizawa

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Byston Well is a world where people go when they die. It is normally unreachable from Earth for it exists between sea and land. Only those who can open the Aura Road can pass through. Dwellers of Sea called the A-Fellario are able to open the Aura Road, and one of them named Silky Mau is forced to do it to snatch a young motocross racer named Sho Zama. Sho finds himself in Byston Well and his role is to pilot an Aura Battler. The Aura Battler is a giant robot warrior of immense power that can only be piloted by one with a strong Aura. All people brought from Earth have that Aura, but Sho's is exceptionally strong. His new master is Drake Luft, but Sho soon finds that Drake's motives are more complex than he realizes...

1.13 AD Police

AD Police (OAVs) Genre: Science Fiction

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Tom Jewell)

This is an OAV series concentrating on the AD Police first seen in "

Bubble Gum Crisis

", a few years before the first appearance of the Knight Sabers. The stories have the AD Police dealing with more mundane crimes and more thought provoking conflicts. A common character with "

Bubble Gum Crisis

" is a young Leon

McNichol.

File 1: Leon is fighting against a prostitute Booma. Severely injured, he defeats it. The Booma returns to his life when its parts are reused and she (it?) begins killing her clients.

File 2: This is a "what makes us human" story when a series of "Jack the Ripper" style slayings take place.

File 3: A story dealing with our own humanity as a police officer is turned into a 'Robocop' type of Booma...replacing everything except his brain and tongue.

NOTE: Anime Pocket Guide Rating is by Tom Jewell.

US Release by: AnimEigo (subtitled)

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

1.14 Genji Tsushin Agedama

Genji Tsushin Agedama (TV) Genre: Comedy

Cast:

Agedama Nozomu Sasaki
 Ibuki Kotonno Mitsuishi

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Agedama is a small boy going to elementary school and having the usual problems for a boy of his age. He is also secretly a superhero-in-training (called "Agedaman"). Along with Wapuro, his floating computer companion, he fights against a criminal organization who can turn humans into monsters of various types. This is not a series to be taken seriously...they extensively parody the superhero genre as well as other anime including "Lupin III: Cagliostro Castle" (many scenes from the movie were followed almost exactly!) and "

Sailor Moon

" (Ibuki-chan turned into a 'bishoujo senshi'). Besides, where else can you find adversaries like a word processor (Wapuro) vs. a PC (PC-ro)? :-)

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: RECOMMENDED

1.15 Akira

Akira (FILM) Genre: Science Fiction

Cast:

Tetsuo Nozomu Sasaki
 Kai Takeshi Kusao

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Neo-Tokyo is gearing up for the Olympics which will be held there. These events mean little to Kaneda and his motorcycle gang. Their goal in life is to have a good time, without getting into any real trouble. However, trouble finds them as one of the bikers, Tetsuo, 'runs into' a psychic kid and is taken away. Kaneda finds that this is all linked to a dark mysterious secret called 'Akira'. The plot is somewhat confusing, but this is one of the most technically impressive anime movies to date.

NOTE: The "Akira Production Report" is a 'Making of...' video that shows some behind-the-scenes stuff of the "Akira" movie.

US Release by: Streamline Pictures (dubbed)

UK Release by: Island World Communications (dubbed & subtitled)

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: RECOMMENDED -- but not for weak stomachs :-)

1.16 Project A-Ko

Project A-ko (FILM, OAVs) Genre: Comedy

also: A-Ko the Versus (OAVs) Genre: Comedy

Cast:

A-Ko Magami Miki Itoh
B-Ko Daitokuji Emi Shinohara
C-Ko Kotobuki Michie Tomizawa
Ume Megumi Hayashibara
Ine Yoshino Takamori
Captain Napolipolita Shuichi Ikeda
Spy-D Tesho Genda
Raiza Chichi (A-Ko the Vs: Blue Side) Saeko Shimazu

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Take a school classroom. Add one poetry spouting teacher. Add a brilliant student (B-Ko). Add two new students, one who can destroy whole armies with her strength and another who can destroy whole armies with her crying and cooking. Now, create a rivalry between A-Ko and B-ko over getting to be C-Ko's friend. Add an invading alien force and you've got a parody taking aim at many anime cliches. Overall, it was very funny, though some parts were better than others. "A-Ko the Versus" placed A-Ko and B-Ko as bounty hunters trying to rescue C-Ko.

1.17 Oh! My Goddess

Oh! My Goddess (OAV) Genre: Comedy

alternate title: Aa! Megami-sama

Cast:

Keiichi Masami Kikuchi
Belldandy (a goddess) Kikuko Inouye
Skuld (a goddess) Aya Hisakawa
Urd (a goddess) Yumi Tohma

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Hitoshi Doi)

One day, Keiichi, a student at Nekomi Institute of Technology (or NIT) was in his dorm because his sempai told him to wait for a phone call. While waiting, he got hungry, so Keiichi called out for some food. He dialed the wrong number and got the "Goddess Helpers" office instead. A young cute goddess named Belldandy appear out of the mirror and said "Our job is to help people who are in trouble, like you. I can grant you one wish, no matter what it is...". Keiichi said "I want you to stay forever". The wish was approved. Unfortunately, Keiichi lives in a men-only dorm, so he got thrown out when his sempai returned. Keiichi's friends didn't let him in either, so he and Belldandy finally settled in an old temple...

NOTE: This series is commonly known as "Ah! My Goddess", but the English title is as shown above. Confirmed with the manga's author by Robert Woodhead of AnimeEigo.

1.18 We Love Animation!

We Love Animation! (TV) Genre: Miscellaneous

alternate title: Anime Daisuki!

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

This is a TV special which comes on twice a year. For one week, various OAVs and movies are shown on TV via this program. Among the features that have been shown are well-known ones such as

 Patlabor
 OAV #7", "
 Orange Road
 : White Lovers", "Lupin III: The Legendary Gold of Babylon", "
 3x3 Eyes
 ", "Dominion" and all of

 Project A-Ko
 ". Less well known features include "Anpan-Man",
 "Fuma no Kojiro", "Cleopatra DC", "Kenya" and "Midoriyama High School". This is a great way to sample different anime that you have never seen before. Also, the "We Love Animation" credits are not to be missed...a different one for each series. This was the first place that I ever saw an "Animate" gift card... :-)

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: RECOMMENDED

1.19 Appleseed

Appleseed (OAV) Genre: Science Fiction

Cast:

Hitomi Mayumi Shoo

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

In the futuristic metropolis of Olympus, a terrorist action is taking place. Handling the situation is ESWAT, a special branch of the Olympus Police Dept. Through the tense situation, ESWAT prepares to neutralize the terrorists. Finally, ESWAT strikes and kill or capture all but one of the terrorists. Along the way, we're introduced to two ESWAT members: Deunan Nut and Briareos Hecatonchires. They are 2 outsiders who joined ESWAT for lack of anywhere else to go. The OAV tells a story of a terrorist plot to take over Gaia...the central computer running Olympus. The plot involves a disillusioned ESWAT officer and the terrorist who got away and Hitomi, Deunan's bioroid friend who is used as a pawn to gain access to Gaia.

NOTE: The OAV is based on the manga "Appleseed" by Masamune Shirow. The manga is full of rich character development and background. Unfortunately, none of this was shown in the OAV. We got a simple police vs. terrorist story filled with lots of action, but was pretty pointless. It was interesting to see how many English words were misspelled, though... :-)

US Release by: US Renditions (subtitled)

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: NOT RECOMMENDED

1.20 Arion

Arion (FILM) Genre: Fantasy

Cast:

Seneca Mayumi Tanaka

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

In Thrace, Arion is taken from his mother Demeter by the god Hades. In the Underworld, Arion is trained to be a warrior. His training is driven by revenge: Arion was told that his mother's blindness was caused by Zeus and Zeus' death will remove the curse. Finally, Arion and Geedo (a huge ape-like creature who had become Arion's friend and companion) left the Underworld to find Zeus. Seneca, a small thief, makes off with Arion's sword and this leads Arion to his first encounter with the forces of Zeus, commanded by his daughter Athena. Arion is captured but is later set free by Lesfeena, Athena's mute serving girl. As Arion rejoins Geedo and Seneca (and worries about Lesfeena), the forces of Zeus and Poseidon face each other in battle. In the background sits the scheming Hades, and the calm Apollon who seems to have plans of his own. The setting of this movie was based on Greek Mythology and the story is of epic stature. The complex plot takes a while to unravel, but the storytelling is excellent.

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

1.21 Assemble Insert

Assemble Insert (OAVs) Genre: Comedy

Cast:

Maron Namikaze Hiroko Kasahara
Kagairi Sonoba Maria Kawamura

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

The "Demon Seed" organization is robbing lots of banks and jewelry stores. The police can't catch them and worse, they cause a lot of civilian damage while trying. The solution? Hold an audition for the new "Anti-Demon Seed" heroine who can also become a music idol. This way, the public won't become so upset at the civilian damage that's going to happen anyway. Cute, sweet 8th grader Maron Namikaze wins this slot due to her enormous strength. This OAV series parodies both the superhero genre and idol girls. Pretty funny.

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: RECOMMENDED

1.22 Baoh the Visitor

Baoh the Visitor (FILM) Genre: Adventure

Cast:

Sumire Noriko Hidaka
Commander Dold Shuichi Ikeda

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Tom Jewell)

Ikuro is a 17 year old boy who has been implanted with an organism which will defend itself against any threat to its host. Ikuro escapes from the captivity of the corporation responsible for implanting the organism (called BAOH) in him. Joining him in his escape is a young ESPer named Sumire. The ensuing chase by the corporation, kidnapping of Sumire, and final showdown in the secret corporate laboratory make for a fast paced movie. Contains a fair amount of graphic violence, though not as bad as some.

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: RECOMMENDED

1.23 Blue Blink

Blue Blink (TV)

From: Timothy Fay (avatar@pnet51.orb.mn.org)

Blue Blink was the last animated TV series produced by Osamu Tezuka. It's about a boy, Kakeru, and a magical, pony-like creature, Blue Blink, and their adventures through a Wonderland-like dimension in pursuit of Kakeru's kidnapped father (39 episodes, NHK).

It is a marvelous fantasy-adventure, and a fitting tribute to Dr. Tezuka, the "Godfather" of Japanese animation.

 Receptionist (BGC8: Scoop Chase) Chisa Yokoyama

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

After a great earthquake, Tokyo was flattened. A new city called MegaTokyo rose from its ashes. The company responsible for much of the rebuilding was Genom Corp. Genom also produced a biomechanical creature called a Booma. When Boomas ran out of control, the ADPolice try to stop them. Also on the scene was a shadowy mercenary group called the Knight Sabers.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

After the 8-part

BGC

OAV series, the story continues in this new series. 2 years have passed, and the Knight Sabers have all but disbanded. Then Silia reappears with a new hardsuit design. Note that characters, plot and the general setting have all changed from their appearance in BGC.

Note: After "

Bubblegum Crisis

the characters, making them stereotypes instead of individuals.

Add a formula plot (with at least 1 fight scene complete with reused animation!) and the result is something to be avoided.

The opening credits were impressive, however.

Burn Up! (OAV) Genre: Adventure

Cast:

MakiYumiko Shibata

Reimi Miki Itoh

Yuka Kumiko Nishihara

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

This is the story of police officers in the near future. We concentrate on 3 female officers: the overly cute Yuka, the prim and proper Reimi, and the aggressive Maki. At the start, there is a kidnapping attempt, and the criminals have high-powered weapons. They hold off the pursuing police, but that's before Maki (finally!) shows up on her motorcycle and messily catches the kidnappers. This is, of course, tied to a larger slavery operation run by Samuel McCoy. The 3 police officers decide to go undercover...without authorization. This only results in Yuka getting captured so Maki and Reimi mount a rescue operation. This is a one shot OAV which is largely a light hearted action flick. Characters designed by Keniichi Sonoda.

Bush Baby (TV) Genre: Drama

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Curtis Hoffmann)

Bush Baby seems to be the name of a kind of over-grown kangaroo rat that is the pet of the heroine. This is a girl's show, with similarities to Tintin (ie. a young girl travelling to exotic lands and having wonderous adventures. However, unlike Tintin, the heroine here does not do any fighting -- she's too kind and gentle for that, so the fighting is left up to her adult male friends.) So far, the action has taken place only in Africa and India. Has good character designs and interesting stories.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

If you're desperate and need a job done, write "XYZ" on the bulletin board at Shinjuku Station. That is a signal that you want to hire City Hunter. Ryo Saeba and Kaori Makumura make up City Hunter. Ryo is calm, cool, and an amazingly accurate shot. He is also the biggest lech since Ataru Moroboshi. Kaori is the daughter of Ryo's deceased partner and runs the business side of City Hunter. She is also the only woman who Ryo hasn't made a pass at. The jobs have ranged from being a bodyguard (usually a pretty girl :-)) to virtual espionage. Kaori has kept Ryo's frequent sukebe tendencies in check with an 50,000 kg mallet. :-) This is an action-adventure with some comedy elements.

1.29 Cream Lemon

Cream Lemon (OAVs) Genre: Miscellaneous

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

This is an anthology series where the overriding common theme is SEX! The series has ranged from soap opera (the Ami series) to fantasy (Rall series) to horror (Cream Lemon Dark) to outright parody (Pop Chaser). The various episodes have nothing in common with each other (aside from episodes in a mini-series) except the requirement to have at least one sex act. In terms of plot, that ranges from the very bad to mediocre. In most cases, the sex is totally unnecessary to the plot (such as it is) but you couldn't call it a "Cream Lemon" if you took it out...

NOTE: "

Project A-ko

" started as a "Cream Lemon", but the comedy overwhelmed the sex. The only artifact of "A-ko"'s origins is the B-ko pool scene...

NOTE: Since this is such an inconsistent series plotwise, any particular episode will depend heavily on personal taste. With that in mind, I'll omit the usual rating with the caveat that sex is guaranteed to be a part of any "Cream Lemon" OAV...
NOTE: "Cream Lemon" is also distributed under the "Fairy Dust" label.

Dancougar (TV)

Dan Cougar Information Sheet

Revision 1 by William Chow

First of all you may be asking what or who is Dan Cougar. Well Dancougar or Dancouga is the name of a special defense network for the Earth. After the aliens attacked, this organization developed machines to fight the invaders. They had to enlist certain personal to work their machines. Thus we have the character's story in this war for the Earth.

According to the Best Hit Series book on this series, the full title is "Deified Beast: Dancougar"

CHARACTERS

Good Guys

Shinobu Fujiwara - He is the first member of the Jyusenki-team and pilots the Eagle fighter. He has short black hair and dark brown eyes. He is unmarried and Japanese in nationality. He was born June 8th, 1967. Shinobu is the first son to Shinzi. He has been vaccinated and is blood type A. He has been imprisoned once for thirty days. He is six feet tall and hang glides as a hobby. He has an explosive temper which causes him to get into many scuffles.

Sara Yuuki - She was the second member to enter the Jyusenki-team. She uses the black Land Cougar. She is unmarried and Japanese. Sara was born July 7th, 1967 as the first daughter to Kokzok. She has blue eyes and inherent black hair but in the series you will see her with long dyed red hair. She has served time in a penitentiary for 38 days. She stands five foot eight and enjoys music and swimming. Sara has been vaccinated and is blood type AB. She has emotional ties to Shapirou Keats which weaken as the series progresses. Although she can have a temper, she is one of the most sensitive characters of the team.

Masato Shikibu - He is the third member of the Jyusenki team as the pilot of the yellow Land Tiger. This unmarried Japanese man was born December 31, 1968 as the first son to Seizi. He has green eyes and light brown hair. He stands five feet nine. He has been vaccinated and has blood type B. His specialty is in the art of taming animals. He has had to serve hard labour for 55 days. He is prying for the emotions of Laura Sullivan. He is also the youngest in the group thus giving the team a playful side.

Ryo Shiba - He is the last of the main characters for the Jyusenki team. He ends up piloting the huge "Big Moth". He is unmarried and Japanese. He was born November 2, 1966 but has been orphaned by his family. He has blue eyes and long brown hair. He stands a tall six foot two and specializes in Kung-fu. He has served 36 days in a penitentiary in the past. He has been vaccinated and is blood type O. This character seems very passive and quiet. However, he is fast, unpredictable and dedicated to his disciplines. He is first seen carrying a white rose in his mouth.

Shapirou Keats - He is the American who joined the aliens. He was born May 15, 1965 as the first son to Pete. He has spiked brown hair and grey brown eyes. He is unmarried but had proposed to Sara before he defected. He stands six foot one and has music as one of his hobbies. He has won the instructor's prize five times. He was initially in love with Sara but with his traitor act, the two fell apart.

Laura Sullivan - She is the small little girl Shinobu found at the ruins of Sacramento. She is blonde and has a very nice singing voice done by Rie Fujiwara. Shinobu found her mourning to her dead mother. She later becomes attracted to Masato.

Ross Igor - He is the leader of Dancougar. He is grey haired with a beard.

Dr. Kotaro Hazuki - He is the guy with glasses working for Dancougar doing all the technical work on the machines. He has light brown hair.

Geral and Chris - These two guys are the pilots of the green transport craft for the land machines.

Miscellaneous

Bianca - The tanned blonde woman who drops Masato off at the dam base. (#4)

Mory - The nurse who gets her ass pinched by Masato. (#4)

Sister Julia - The nun who pulls Laura from her mother's side when the church is collapsing. (#6)

Dan - The little kid who leads the band of kids at the base. (#7)

Don - The teacher who blows the base to help the team. (#8)

Poori - The black little girl who Ryo rescued from the Amazon city. (#9)

Alan - The big hulk that falls in love with Sara who dies due to poisonous gas. (#10)

Retsuta - The little smart kid with glasses. (#12)

Tom - The shortest kid with the curly hair. (#12)
John - The kid who was willing to drive a missile into Desguea. (#12)
Sherry - The blonde little girl in the blue dress who fired the shot gun at Masato. (#12)
Danielle - The woman who helps Ryo out when he was shot in the shoulder. She was used as a hostage for the aliens. (#13)
Cassa - Danielle's mother. (#13)
Brian - Soldier who shot his girl, Sharato. He sacrifices himself for Dancouga. (#19)
Sharato - Woman shot by Brian when he thought she was a monster. We see her in a picture on the table. (#19)
Lune - Little boy who gets the food for an injured alien. He is seven years old. (#21)
Tarara - A blonde little girl who was being bothered by Lune. The two of them find the injured alien. She is six years old. (#21)
Baret - The older sister to Lune. She goes with Sara to find Lune. She is fifteen years old. (#21) Annetto - Woman who runs the town of people in a suspended time period. She gets vapourized by a tank gun. (#22)

Bad Guys

Mugue Zolbado - The big head leader. He is usually seen through a globe viewer by the combat generals. He is the master of the Empire invading Earth.

Desguea - He is the general with a punk orange mohawk hair cut with a white mask over his face. He is in charge of the military maneuvers for the Empire. He is the scapegoat for failures. He pilots various huge droids like the Zefas but they get themselves wasted by the Dancougar team. In many occasions, he miraculously escapes.

Gildorome - He is a general with the grey mind flayer shaped head. He has a mark on his forehead. He is one of the generals opposed to Shapirou's induction as a general.

Heromato - He is the third general of the Empire. He has wings and looks like a demon.

Degura - The commander of a war machine used in episode #11: "Cover Fire of the Enemy".

Luna Rossa - The green haired female aide to Mugue. Shapirou begins to develop an attraction to her. She is the type to watch; faithful but always scheming.

Beastoru - The blonde subordinate to Desguea. He wears a uniform that has a red band over his head. He will pilot the red Zefa.

Kancotsu - The other blonde subordinate to Desguea.

MECHA

Eagle Fighter - This is the first product of the Super Technology. It is Shinobu's assignment as the pilot for the new mecha. It is modified jet fighter plane with an eagle-like beak at the nose. It can go into "Blue Tracer" mode, just like SPT Layzner, where the plane can fly through objects and slice them. This plane only transforms from plane to humanoid. It is black, white and red in colour. He has a standard high-caliber projectile weapon and missiles.

Land Cougar - This is the second product from the Dancougar network assigned to Sara. It looks like a huge black tank with one large white cannon on the top. It carries several volleys of missiles and has many smaller guns in various places. It can transform from tank to cougar to humanoid. In cougar mode, it is very agile.

Land Tiger - This is the third product assigned Masato. It looks very similar to the Land Cougar but it is mainly yellow. The two machines are similarly built and armed about the same. He transforms from tank to tiger to humanoid.

Big Moth - This the the last of the early machines piloted by Ryo. It is the largest of the all the land mecha. It transforms from tank to elephant (mammoth) to humanoid. It is the most heavily armed and shielded. In carries two missile bays carrying 30+ missiles per volley. It also has a cluster of high powered energy cannons on the top of the tank. In humanoid mode it is a deadly enemy since Ryo can augment his martial arts abilities through it. The tank is very heavily plated to withstand many missile hits.

Zefa - The standard issue green humanoid mecha used by the aliens. Has hard and dangerous hand claws. It also has two shoulder lasers which does a lot of damage. This droid can lay waste to any Earth mecha is very hard to kill.

: Makishimamu - This version has larger claws and out stretched shoulder claws. It is much more armoured and is orange in colour. The head horns are pointing downward and their is more plating in the crotch area. One was blown up in episode seven.

: Makishimamu Beta - This one is a dark blue and has head horns going up. It has predominately large arms an claws. It has two shoulder cannons on each shoulder There is an example in episode eight.

: Makishimamu Alpha - The one looks like the standard Zefa but it has two shoulder cannons, two spikes on the arm for punch and stab, and wing like projections from his back. It is an aqua green colour. There is an example in episode eight.

: Makishimamu Gamma - This one looks like a standard one but it is red.

Meka - The standard flying aerial weapon. Although Meka isn't the proper name, it is recognized that this is your normal issue mini fighter. It has one main scanner window and a front laser turret. This craft is much easier to hit and destroy.

Desdalum I - Big purple thing that Desguea uses. This version has only four tentacles. It isn't all that hard to beat. It does have an ejection module that Desguea uses all the time.

Desdalum II - The main body is shaped more like a clam shell. It now has six spikes and it still is purple.

Desalum Z - This version is back to humanoid shape. It has a huge mouth with big teeth. Inside its chests it has volleys upon volley of missiles.

Shiasodaru - The huge "hell beast" that attacked the Amazons. It is huge black and red bell shaped tank. It has four orange tentacles, an energy gun and a flame thrower. It gets wasted by Ryo's Big Moth.

Daranbeater - The huge monster with humanoid shape with big mouth and teeth. It was shown in episode number twelve.

Tadao Yokoshima	Ryo Horikawa
Okinu-chan	Mariko Kouda
Doctor Chaos	Shigeru Chiba
Emi Ogasawara	Michie Tomizawa

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Hitoshi Doi)

With all of the new buildings being put up in the city, there was no place for the ghosts to go. Naturally, the ghosts cause havoc, so a new job called GS (or Ghost Sweeper) was created. The body-conscious girl Reiko Mikami was the head of the GS office with Tadao Yokoshima as her assistant. Yokoshima worked at the GS office for only Y250/hour (about 2 dollars!). The reason he worked so cheaply was because he wanted to work with Reiko. His dream was to see Reiko naked. Also on the team was Okinu-chan who worked for only Y30/day (yes, that's 22 cents a day!). Of course, Okinu-chan had few needs since she was a 300 year old ghost.

1.32 Goshu the Cellist

Goshu the Cellist (FILM)

From Walter M. Amos (amos@CCWF.CC.UTEXAS.EDU)

The art style looks very similar to that in Omoide Poroporo
, so I think Miyazaki et al. have something to do with it.

Briefly it is about a cellist (Goshu) in the local orchestra and he is trying to learn to properly play their Beethoven repertoire. At night when he practices at home a menagerie of various animals pop in and try to give him various advice on how the music should sound. (The cat which first appears had me rolling on the floor with his Japanese-interpreted-through-cat vocal-chords-trying-to-pronounce-Beethoven...he looks at a picture of Ludwig and says (in my best phoenetic type interpretation) "ahhh! Loo-hu-week fan Bay-hay toe-fehhnn!")

I found it to be a lovely and lyrical little piece. And of course the background music, all lovely-lovely-Ludwig-van helped a lot.

Gunbuster: Aim for the Top! (OAVs) Genre: Giant Robots alternate title: Top o Nerae! Gunbuster!

Cast:

Noriko Takaya Noriko Hidaka
 Kazumi Amano Rei Sakuma
 Jung Freud Maria Kawamura

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Yes, it's time for Yet-Another-Alien-Invasion! The Earth is preparing to defend itself. Oblivious to this, Noriko Takaya, daughter of an admiral lost in space, tries to succeed in her dream: to become a Gunbuster robot pilot and go off into space like her father. This OAV series fluctuated between parody and drama and was notable for paying attention to Einstein and his Theory of Relativity as it pertains to near-light-speed travel.

Hello Kitty (TV) Genre: Kids

Cast:

Kitty Megumi Hayashibara

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

A series for little kids. This follows the adventures of two kitty kids named "Kitty" and "Mimi". The series tends to be very straightforward and innocent. As an example: two jewel thieves get away with their loot and crashland near where the kids live. They meet the kitty kids (who think that the robbers are aliens from a UFO) and entertain the kids with stories while the kids tend to their injuries. In the morning, the thieves decide that it wasn't worth it, and turn themselves in...only after making sure that the kitty kids see their thanks and know that the 'aliens' went back to space. The series is very charming and almost fairy tale like...

 Ichiko Kamikura (Icchan) Minami Takayama
 Sei Arisaka Takehito Koyasu
 Hikaru Hibino Rin Mizuhara
 Yuka Hijiri Yumi Tohma
 Hatsune Yamashita (temp teacher) Kikuko Inouye

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Erika, queen of a magic world, is on Earth looking for the girl who looks exactly like Erika. She finds her in a tomboy named Himeko. Himeko (Hime-chan to her friends) is infatuated with an upperclassman boy, has fun with her friends and is an ordinary girl in all ways. This changes when Erika gives her a magic ribbon which allows Hime-chan to change into anyone she wants to. As a side effect, her stuffed lion, Pokota comes to life and acts as Hime-chan's advisor. Showing her maturity, Hime-chan immediately uses the ribbon to get closer to her 'sempai'. A 'magical girl' series with a very ordinary girl in the lead role. Billed as a magical comedy.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

After the Earth is devastated by nuclear war, society breaks down into a system where only the strong survive. Often, there are raids on normal people when 'the strong' decide that they need something. Into this desolate world comes Kenshiro, master of the Hokuto Shinken style of martial art. This style destroys the body from within by striking at one of the numerous acupuncture points. Kenshiro is a wanderer on a quest to find his lost love Yuria...taken from him in a battle with Shin long ago. The battle left Kenshiro with scars in the pattern of the Big Dipper. During his wanderings, Kenshiro defends the victims of 'the strong' for he is pledged by his art to defend the weak. Kenshiro is an extremely honorable, though somber man...almost the archetype of the tragic hero. The series is high in the amount of gore created, but the strong central characters seem to rise above that in audience appeal...

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Imagine the ultimate in sports teams...teams of robots that take on almost any sport from baseball or football to ice hockey. The games that these teams play become close to all out battles as the primary goal is to win. The focus of the series is on an underequipped and underfunded team called the "Silver Castle". The owner is a young and inexperienced girl. Their nemesis is a team called "Dark Kingdom" owned by a sinister and very rich man. The series follows the Silver Castle team, led by the baseball-specialty robot Magnum Ace, as they go from game to game and the obstacles that they have to overcome. A mix between an shounen action series and a sports series, "Iron Leaguer" works on both levels. An unusual touch is that the robots all have "super-deformed" designs as in "SD Gundam". 1.41 Raven Tengu Kabuto

Raven Tengu Kabuto (OAV)

From: Ralph Jenkins (m0336@tnc.UUCP)

Just picked up a copy of Dark Image Entertainment/L.A. Hero's subtitled version of the latest Buichi Terasawa manga to go OAV, Raven Tengu Kabuto. For those who aren't familiar with Terasawa, some of his other works are Space Cobra and Midnight Eye: Gokuu. I believe Kabuto is the first anime adaptation of his work that he was involved in personally. The tape is in the same format as U.S. Renditions' older releases: that is, it's subtitled and comes in a clamshell case. DIE, like USR, is a division of Books Nippan; however, DIE specializes in more 'mature' anime, or titles that are not suitable for children. Kabuto is the first release under this label.

Kabuto attempts to combine two radically different genres: Japanese mythology and cyberpunk (whoa!). The story is very simple. Kabuto, a mysterious samurai, arrives in a new village, and must immediately rescue a captured princess from the castle of an evil sorceress. Okay...standard samurai movie fare. Then we get an intelligent robot assassin, a mechanical horse, a flying house, and replicants out of Blade Runner. Once the heavy metal music starts, you know you're in for one confused OAV!

But does it work? In my opinion, it doesn't. The story is all formula, regardless of the futuristic elements tossed in. It's not clear why we have two different time periods existing at once, unless one bad guy in particular is that smart. Still, I don't buy it. Kabuto is a difficult anime to swallow. Another gripe: The character designs are not distinctive enough; a lot of the characters tend to look too similar. Also, the running time given on the package is 45 mins., which is misleading because there are ten minutes of credits at the end (including a why-is-this-here sequence showing highlights from the video). The anime is 35 mins. long, tops.

The verdict:

If you can overlook the cliched plot and suspend all disbelief, the animation is of good quality in general, and very good in some sequences.

To wrap this up, although this is the first release under the DIE label, there isn't much in way of mature content, really. There's a little blood, and a couple of nude scenes. This is not something to show during family hour, to be sure, but it's relatively tame as far as anime horror goes.

1.42 Karura Mau

Karura Mau (FILM, OAVs) Genre: Horror

Cast:

Machine God Corps (OAVs) Genre: Giant Robots

alternate title: Kishin Heidan

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

During World War II, a German woman named Maria arrives in Japan to deliver a "module". The module has a mysterious purpose, and both the German and the Japanese military police are after it. She is rescued by a young boy and his gang. The boy's name is Taichi and his parents are dead...killed by the Military Police who were in turn killed by alien 'ghosts' from the sky. The ghosts had been destroyed by a mysterious giant robot that appeared with a great train. Maria is contacted by someone who might be a friend while her twin sister, working for the Colonel, manages to get the module. At this point, the alien ghosts make another appearance, and the great robot appears again. This OAV series has a high level of suspense and is largely a spy story. The robots are also different in that it uses WWII-era technology (i.e. steam engines for power plants, machine guns and cannons for weapons).

Due to human folly, the Earth was split apart into its Northern and Southern hemispheres. The Southern hemisphere drifted off into deep space. On the remaining Northern hemisphere, the surviving humans evolved into creatures that could 'morph' into half human/animal forms. These 'Beasts' worshipped animal-like god-statues called 'Jinn'. When the 'real' humans returned, they starting capturing the Jinn (the Jinn are really human-created mecha animals of great power inside the statues). This series follows a group of 3 young Beasts from very different tribes. All were captured, but escaped with the help of a human and his granddaughter. This is a very funny comedy series with an odd cast of characters. Bud, in particular, speaks a great deal of English and thinks he's a hit with the girls...

Kyosuke is a new student looking about town. While counting the no. of stairs on a hill, he sees a UFO...uhh..hat and the girl it belongs to. He later finds out that the girl is Madoka, a local tough girl who can throw a mean guitar pick. Despite that, he tries to win her affections...but Hikaru-chan has latched on HIM. To make things worse, Hikaru-chan is Madoka's best friend. Kyosuke tries to pursue Madoka without hurting Hikaru-chan, and is very indecisive about everything. Adding to the confusion is his, and his family's secret psychic powers...though Kurumi isn't too serious about keeping the secret. A romantic comedy with a dose of nostalgia for your junior high school days.

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Avi Melman)

Lamune is an ordinary 4th grade boy who loves playing video games. He buys one from a peddler girl (and helps her sell the rest :-)). At home, he plays the game called 'King Scasher' & beats it. The peddler girl then comes out of the TV screen and asks for his help, calling him "The Blood Relative of the Chosen Hero Lamuness" or Lamuness for short. She is Princess Milk and takes him to Hara-Hara World where his role is to revive the Guardian Knights...starting with King Scasher. To do this, he had to find an unlock the shrine which held Tama-Q...a robot who became Lamuness' Advisor Robot. Normally worn on Lamuness' shoulder, Tama-Q, when fed a coin of a Guardian Knight, coughs up a capsule which releases that Knight. All of the Knights are free-thinking mechas except for King Scasher which is piloted by Lamuness. Opposing Lamuness is Don Harumage and his minions Da Cider and Lesuka. Later, Lesuka and Da Cider sort of defect to the good guys. Da Cider also tells really bad puns (DAJARE). A fun giant-robot series. Note that "Lamune & 40 EX" and "Lamune & 40 DX" are OAV series following the TV series...

Fantastic Adventures of Yohko: Leda (OAV) Genre: Fantasy

Cast:

Yohko Hiromi Tsuru
Zell Shuichi Ikeda

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

A young girl, Yohko, is composing and playing a piece on her piano. She is too shy to say that she likes a boy, so she writes this music to express her feelings toward him. The music is supposed to give her courage, but when the time comes, she still fails to talk to him. As she ponders what to do, the landscape melts around her and Yohko is transported to an oppressed land where Zell reigns supreme. After encountering a talking dog, Yohko finds that her music is the key between the worlds...and that she is also the one chosen by the goddess Leda to be her warrior against Zell. Yohko must stop Zell before he can use her music to come into our Earth. The story is very straightforward, and has an aura of wonder around it. Yohko is a girl with unexpected gifts, but her feelings will prove to be the most important thing of all. A touching, if ordinary story.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

A young girl runs back to her village to find it destroyed, and her brother taken by a sorcerer. To fight back, Lemnear trains herself to become a warrior. One day, she wanders into another village and her beauty catches the eye of the local ruler. She defeats the thugs sent to take her, but falls before the magic of the sorcerer whom she wants to kill. Fighting on, she will eventually face the sorcerer's master in a final battle. This was a pretty standard "girl seeks revenge on ultimate evil" story, but was presented well. An enjoyable action story.

Locke the Superman (FILM, OAVs) Genre: Science Fiction

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Tom Jewell)

A "retired" super-psychic from wars long ago is sought by the government to stop an evil cabal of psychics with galactic domination on their minds. Locke's main opponent in the film is Jessica, a super-psychic herself who has been brainwashed into believing that Locke was responsible for her parents' death. The battle takes Locke and a government agent, Commander Yamaki into a Red Giant star, where the cabal has its secret base. Editor's Note: A recent OAV series on "Locke" pits an unwilling Locke against Lord Leon, a powerful psychic who is seeking revenge against those responsible for his family's death. The names are changed, but the plot's the same... :-)

 Deedlit (the elf) Yumi Tohma
 Eto (the cleric) Kappei Yamaguchi
 Lord Kashew Shuichi Ikeda
 Ashram Akira Kamiya
 Karla Yoshiko Sakakibara
 Seeris Minami Takayama
 Pirotase Sakiko Tamagawa

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Long ago, a titanic war ended between 2 gods which split the land into two islands. One of them is the island of Lodoss. The peace on Lodoss is being disrupted, and Pern decides to find out why. Almost by accident, he forms a band to help on his quest. The band consists of: an elf, a dwarf, a cleric, a wizard, a thief, and a warrior (Pern). The OAV series follows their adventures. This series has a very heavy Role-Playing-Game(RPG) influence to it. Note that there seems to be a break in the story between parts 8 and 9.

From: Mitsuhiro Sakai (sakai@dylink.usc.edu)

There are 4 (or 5, now?) novels of "Record of Lodoss War" by Ryo

Mizuno.

The OVAs are based on the first volume of the novels.

"Record of Lodoss War" was born as a table talk role playing game created by Group SNE (Ryo Mizuno is one of them.).

Then, it turned into the novels by Ryo Mizuno, published by Kadokawa-Shoten.

From: dansu@ocf.berkeley.edu (Dan Su)

An introduction to Record of Lodoss War
Translated from the July 1990 issue of NewType
by Dan Su
Anime Berkeley

"30 years of peace has come to an end.
Once again, war clouds hang over Lodoss..."

The peace of Lodoss island was obtained through the noble sacrifice of the heroes who challenged the demons of darkness. But now, 30 years later, with renewed evil ambition, the Marmoian emperor Beld has begun his attack. Here, a new record of war unfolds...

* * *

The Evil Figure Hiding in Lodoss' History

"Record of Lodoss War" is not simply a record of a war. It takes place in a war-torn world, with heroes who earnestly believe in justice and who rely on their own inner strength. It is also an epic describing the growth of these characters.

The story starts out with a goblin invasion of the hero Pern's home village of Zaxon where most of the villagers are massacred. To the people of Lodoss who haven't seen war since the last battle with demons 30 years ago, this was a totally unthinkable event.

Pern, who's father served as a holy knight in Vallis, wonders about the unusual disaster, "Now, something is about to happen to this island." Pern and his friends, Eto, a Fallis Shinto priest (i.e. cleric) who is also Pern's childhood friend, Slain, a magician known within the village of Zaxon, and Gim, a dwarf warrior, set out to find the cause of the unusual events. The truth is, at that time, evil ambition covered the island of Lodoss. Beld, the emperor of Marmo, the island of darkness, set out to conquer Lodoss.

It was really a bolt from the blue. Kanon's stronghold, Shining Hill, as well as Alan, the capital of the "Millenium" kingdom Alania, easily fell to the Marmoian forces.

Beld gloats over the success of his battle plan. However, he was formerly one of the seven heroes who fought the demon-gods to the end. Why would one of those heroes (do something like this)...? What in the world could have made him give up his hero's name/title? [I think this has the connotation: what could have turned him from good to evil?] That is a puzzle noone can figure out. Also, wherever the Marmoian army goes, the enemy's resistance is utterly destroyed by the grey witch Karra's mighty magic. Undoubtedly, she holds the key to part of this mystery.

On their way to the fortress Mice, Pern and company (which now includes Deedlit the elf and Woodchuck the thief) run into Karra when they happen to rescue Vallis' queen, Fianna, whom Karra is trying to kidnap.

As the story goes on, the battle between Karra and Pern's group and the battle between the Marmoian army and the Vallis army that's trying to stop them continue. In the process, Pern and his friends will really grow/mature. Also, an unexpected truth in Lodoss' history will be revealed.

[Sorry for not breaking up all the relative clauses into separate sentences. I hope the english doesn't sound too awkward. Also, I'm sure I spelled some of the names wrong since I don't know the official spellings.

-DS 4/4/91]

From: Chadwick Ngan (chadwick@world.std.com)

The first 8 episodes of the OVA followed rather closely to the events happening in the first novel. There are, of course, some editorial changes during transition to the silver screen.

The next 2 OVA episodes follows volume 3-4 of the novels somewhat loosely. The basic plots is more or less the same, but there are many changes as well, since the OVA involves only one cast, Parn and co. The novel, on the other hand, spend considerate pages on new characters other than Sheris and Orson.

By episode 11-13, the OVA differed from volume 6-7 of the novels so much that only the concept remains the same. Basically they took the idea from the RPG replay and made it evolve around the OVA cast. The novels, by this time, concentrates on a different group of people, with Parn and others playing a supportive role.

One thing of interest is that the last volume [7] of the novel were not in print when the OVA series was concluded. In a sense the OVA is ahead of the events depicted by the novel, even though they both stem from the same RPG replay.

Finally, the OVA crammed everything into a time span of no more than 2 years, whereas the same story is told over a period of 13+ years in the novels. Parn actually mature into somebody respectable there. This difference in time also presented a difficulty to the character designers, when they wondered how they are going to make a "Knight of Lodoss" image out of a 20 years-old fool. :)

alternate title: Majuu Senshi Luna Varuga

Cast:

Princess Luna Michie Tomizawa
Rapier Hiromi Tsuru
Ril Eriko Hara
Princess Zena Kikuko Inouye

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

The Kingdom of Rimzubel is being invaded by the Dambos Kingdom. 2nd Princess Luna de Rimzubel finds her injured grandfather in a secret passage. He thought that the chamber below held a secret that could save the kingdom. Luna goes into the chamber and is asked if she wants the 'power'. To save her kingdom, Luna says 'Yes'. Outside, the Dambos soldiers are knocking at the front gate...with a battering ram. The sudden appearance of a giant monster (think of Gojira :-)) in the middle of their camp stops the invasion. On the monster's head is a naked Luna. We find that this is the demon Varuga who, according to legend, defeated a demon lord. Luna is now his brain. Vina, Luna's little sister, is abducted to revive that demon lord and it's all-of-a-sudden up to Luna and Varuga (and Luna's faithful servant Roco) to save Vina and stop the demon lord. This is a fun fantasy adventure series with lots of slapstick comedy. Even if Luna has a distressing habit of losing her clothes... :-)

1.60 Goldfish Warning!

Goldfish Warning! (TV)

alternate title: Kingyou Chuuihou!

The series is called Kingyou Chuuihou! which translates as Goldfish Warning! [as in Hurricane Warning :-)] The author is Nekobe Neko. Up to recently Goldfish Warning! was in Nakayoshi, a monthly shoujo manga magazine. Seven compilations of the manga are available [consult the rec.arts.manga Manga Guide for details].

For the TV version each episode contains two segments, sometimes they are two separate stories, sometimes they are two parts of the same story. All the stories are self contained and there is little or no sequential order to them.

The drawing style of the characters varies between normal, part-gag and full-gag depending on the situation [gag is sort of like SD but not necessarily super-cute]. Normal style tends to be used in "serious" situations like when Chitose acts upperclass for example she is admiring herself in the mirror. Part-gag is "normal" mode for most characters and full-gag is used in "gag" situations like when Chitose discovers that her hair is really a disaster...

The set-up of the story is this: Fujinomiya Chitose's wealthy father dies with debts that leave her almost broke. She is kicked out of the snobbish Tokai no Gakuen [City Academy] and she is left with nothing in the world except for the clothes on her back and one pink goldfish called Gyopi-chan, the only thing left by her father.

While wandering lost she collapses on the grounds the poor-but-happy Inaka no Chuugakkou [Country Jr. High School], where the students are rough [ie un-cultured] but friendly, and animals regularly roam the school grounds and even attend class. When she recovers she enters the school even though she is unhappy with its air of poverty.

Her family lawyer, Tanakayama, comes in presumably to see to her welfare, but actually plots to steal her rare pink goldfish, which is extremely valuable. Caught in the act by the school's guard chicken Piiko and stopped by a student named Wapiko, he drops a safety deposit box key belonging to Chitose's late father. The deposit box turns out to contain enough deeds, stocks and other goodies to make Chitose set for life, but instead of returning to the rich school that rejected her, she uses some of the money to rebuild the poor school into the New Country Jr. High School.

In exchange for such generosity, she appoints herself the school's chairperson of the board and student president. She then spends most of her time trying to bring a little big-city sophistication to the school and its student body and trying to get them to seriously compete (for her revenge, of course) against the City Academy. Naturally, she fails miserably. Future episodes usually centre around this theme or around Chitose's attitude keeping her from just enjoying herself the way the "low-class" country students do.

Other odd elements include the pigs, cows (human size!), chickens, cats, and so on that can often be found in the classroom with the students. The cows in particular play a fair part in the show, and two or three of them have become recognisable characters.

Wapiko: The show's super-energetic, carefree heroine. Besides being incredibly fast, strong, and agile, she also has a great tracking nose and is very good with animals as well. The animals all look up to her, and she often serves as intermediary between them and Chitose. She can be upset or angry, but it usually doesn't last long. Her primary purpose in life seems to be just to enjoy it.

Gyopi-chan: Currently valued in the hundreds of millions of yen. It is eventually revealed that not only is the goldfish worth a mint, he can also fly and talk, and is especially fond of potato chips.

Chitose: Even after losing it all and still being accepted by the poor school you'd think she'd have learnt something, but she hasn't! She still considers herself a lady of refinement and above all the country riff-raff, even though she can and often does act wilder and cruder than any of them. She does seem to occasionally notice that these people are good characters, but rarely seems to pick up any of their better traits. Despite her good intentions for the school, a big part of her remains a self-serving, snobbish schemer.

Shuu: Short for Kitada Shuuichi. The straight man of the series, he is the only person at New Country Jr. High who even comes close to a "student" as Chitose knows them. She appoints him student vice-president, and he is always referring to her as "Miss Student President", never by name. He is more the stereotyped girls' manga-type boy: serious, intelligent, gentle, slim, and handsome. He rarely if ever loses his temper, instead spending a lot of his time dealing with Chitose's. However, despite his serious character and position relative to her, he is above all a New Country student, and remains loyal to his friends there in spite of what Chitose thinks of them.

Aoi: The school delinquent, [well actually the school "human" delinquent as there is delinquent bull :-)] he is forever late to class or forgetting at least half his required class materials. He is, however, quite handsome, and is not above exploiting this. If he didn't make a fool of himself so often, he'd make a pretty good romantic lead.

Michael: Head of the school's Drama Club and he always carry a guitar with him. He has a cat which always punch him, and it turns out that he is the elder brother of the Prince from the Chocolate Empire! As for his "charm point" as he calls it... ..and you thought the girls' eyes were big!!!

Sugadaira Yurika: Student President at the City Academy and Chitose's rival. She is forever trying to find ways to do in or absorb New Country, and would succeed more if she wasn't so infatuated with Aoi. It might also help if she got rid of Tanakayama.

Tanakayama: After the first episode he goes to work for Yurika, and spends most of his time either spying on New Country on her orders or eating at the City Academy's expense.

Takapi: Chairman of City Academy's central committee (a position he takes seriously) and Tanakayama's designated assistant spy. He's a good student, if a little snobby, but his spying work is hampered by a crush he has on Wapiko.

Hideaki Kurashige Kaneto Shiozawa
Rumiko Daijouji Rei Sakuma
Marie Michiyo Okimoto
Emma Tomiyo Okimoto
Reiko Ikue Ootani

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

This is a "magical girls" series about two twin girls who go to high school. Tomomi is a tomboyish girl who is good at sports (she's the star of the volleyball team). Mikage is more feminine and is better academically, despite her tendency to blow up the Chemistry Club. Both girls have boyfriends, though Mikage's left for London in the 2nd episode. Mikage tends to have more romantic relationships while Tomomi is on the 'buddy' system. What makes these girls different is their ESP powers. Both have limited telekinesis, have telepathy only with each other, and can teleport only when both work together. The series is about the sometimes funny/sad/romantic lives of the two twins and the occasional complications brought about when they use their powers. There is also an almost gothic mystery surrounding the powers and the role 4 flowers play in it...

NOTE: Interesting gimmick. The eyecatch has pictures of 2 twins (all appear about 1-3 years old) when going to commercial. When coming out, a picture of "Dio", the 2 ED singers posing as Tomomi and Mikage is used. The ED has Dio performing the song against an animated background...

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Momo is a little girl living with her parents. She's a very bright and friendly girl given to helping those that she meets. Minky Momo is actually a princess from the "Land of Dreams" and she is on Earth to help humans not to lose their dreams. There are actually 2 Minky Momo TV series:

Minky Momo (1982-83) - Momo-chan and her parents run a pet shop. Momo comes from Fenarinarsa which moved to near-Earth space when humans lost their dreams. Momo uses her magic to change into various 18 year old girls with expert skills in some area. At the end of the series, Momo was run over by a truck and her spirit was reborn as a human.

Minky Momo (1991-92) - Another Momo-chan lives with her human parents who run a hotel. Premise is the same as the first series, except that this Momo has more general use of her magic - being able to cast spells as well as transform. Minky Momo comes from Marinensarsa which sits at the bottom of the sea. Note that the first Minky Momo (now human) has also appeared in this series.

In both series, Momo-chan lives with human parents, but her real parents live in their respective cities and Minky Momo is a real princess. Both "Land of Dreams" retreated to their current locations because humans have lost sight of their dreams. This is a "magical girl" series which is surprisingly good, considering that it's directed at little girls...

Taeko Okajima, a 27 year old OL (Office Lady) is going to take a sabbatical. With no real hometown to go to, she journeys to a farm owned by the family of her oldest sister's husband. As she goes on the journey, she has many flashbacks to 1966 when she was 10 years old. Through the younger Taeko's eyes, we see a normal life of a school kid with many events which were significant to her. The film continues in this vein, switching between the purposeless life of the older Taeko as she arrives at the farm, and attempts to get to her roots, and the younger Taeko with all the attendant joys and sorrows of growing up. This is a very melancholy film as we enter the ordinary life of Taeko and her brief time on the farm. Directed by Isao Takahata and produced by Hayao Miyazaki.

 Miyoshi Masami Kikuchi

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Kubo is an ordinary guy in college with an ordinary outlook on life and an ordinary future. This changes when he meets up with an old friend named Tanaka and is introduced to the mysterious world of the "otaku". Kubo finds himself becoming an ANIME

OTAKU. With this new interest, Kubo and Tanaka open "General Products": a company specializing in anime garage kits. Of course, GP is wildly successful and Kubo has a dream...to create an amusement park catering exclusively to anime otakus. "Otaku no Video 1985" chronicles the downfall of Kubo & Tanaka and his efforts to create a new company based around a new Magical Girl character...Misty May. This 2 OAV series was a self-parody of Gainax; a company filled with anime otakus. There were also numerous "interviews" of different otakus. "Otaku no Video" can be amusing or insulting, depending on your outlook.

NOTE: "otaku" literally means "you", but in common usage refers to a person that is extremely knowledgeable and/or fanatical about a topic. An "anime otaku" refers to someone who lives and breathes anime. In Japan, "otaku" has the same stigma as "nerd". On rec.arts.anime, "otaku" tends to be rather complimentary...meaning someone who knows a lot.

1.78 Robot Carnival

Robot Carnival (FILM) Genre: Science Fiction, Anthology

Review from Animato!, Spring 1991, by Emru Townsend

The notion of syncing a pantomime animated film to music is hardly new; Disney's Steamboat Willie and Silly Symphonies are classic examples, and even "silent" films usually had a pianist performing to accompany what was being seen onscreen. However, since the days of the Silly Symphony -- and the ultimate Silly Symphony, Fantasia -- there has been a profound lack of this genre of animated film, with the possible exception of music videos.

Enter Robot Carnival, a mid-80s Japanese techno-Fantasia with a twist. As in Fantasia, Robot Carnival is comprised of several animated shorts set to music. Unlike Fantasia, Robot Carnival has each segment directed by different teams, each with their own distinct style, while all the music is composed by Jo Hisaishi, who has also composed soundtracks for anime classics such as

Laputa

, and

Arion

. Where Fantasia's unifying theme is fantasy, Robot Carnival's unifying theme is, as the title suggest, robots.

In some ways, Robot Carnival's structure is much like that of Fantasia. It gambols through some light-hearted sequences, takes time out for a relatively somber short, has a trio of shorts (one light-hearted, one "art", and one uproariously funny), and a final, dark sequence.

The film's opening has a little boy in the desert going about daily life until a poster ad blows his way. He picks it up, squints at the type, and runs off in a panic to warn the villagers: the Robot Carnival is coming! People frantically run for cover and cower in their hovels as the Carnival makes its destructive presence known. This segment was directed by Katsuhiro Otomo (creator and director of ) and Atsuko Fukushima, and is enjoyable for its large dollops of slapstick cartoon violence as the Robot Carnival's fireworks detonate within the village and its cute dancing dolls explode in the company of their human consorts.

Franken no Haguruma (Frankenstein's Gears), directed by Kouji Morimoto, has us in a darkened laboratory illuminated only by the occasional flash of lightening. A (mad?) scientist with an unidentifiable something on his back creates a robot which can mimic anything he does... much to his dismay. Further comment would only give away the joke.

Deprive, directed by Hidetoshi Omori (who has worked on

Aura Battler Dunbine

, and more recently the new Guyver OAVs), is a fast-paced action film. An invading overlord and his minions kidnap a young girl and her robot friend sets off to rescue her from their clutches. Aside from the catchy music, a few neat visual effects during his retribution and a particularly nasty surprise, there's nothing too exceptional about this segment.

Two of the shorts within this movie violate the music-only rule, of which the first is Presence. Directed by Yasuomi Umetsu (who was behind the opening of music is mainly accompanied by the voice of the main character, a man who creates robotic toys for a living. The world he inhabits is much like ours, only robotics are more commonplace. In his private work area, he creates a robotic female companion, who startles him by exhibiting some all-too-human behavior. This touching film is hauntingly beautiful, with lush background designs and ultra-detailed, colorful cel work. The animation itself is smooth -- almost too smooth. While it suits certain things such as flying cars and slow-motion shattering glass, the smooth movement sometimes makes the characters themselves seem inhuman.

Project A-ko 3

), the film's subdued background

Starlight Angel is a short about two girls' visit to the fair. This is a light, entertaining "feel-good" sort of film, which is fairly average. The story meanders a bit in some places, leaving the audience occasionally muttering, "Yes, yes, get on with it!" Hiroyuki Kitazume directed Starlight Angel, which is highly reminiscent of his work for Zeta Gundam.

Meiji Karakuri Bumei Kitan: Koumoujin Shurai no Maki (Strange Tale of Meiji Machines: The Episode of the Red-Haired Man's Invasion) is the second Robot Carnival short to have any dialogue. Strangely, the music seems to only be a minor aspect of this film, which is about a western man invading 16th century Japan with his giant, lumbering wooden robot. Some Japanese youngsters attempt to retaliate with a wooden robot of their own, with some hilarious consequences like accidentally punting a small house into the stratosphere when they mean to raise the right leg to start walking. Hiroyuki Kitakubo, chief animator of

Black Magic M-66
, directed this bit of silliness.

Cloud sticks out from the rest of Robot Carnival as Toccata and Fugue in D Minor did in Fantasia; it's not cel animation. Unlike Toccata and Fugue, it doesn't even have all that much animation at all. Cloud has a quiet, contemplative soundtrack and features a small, robotic child wearing a jacket. Little actually happens in this as far as plot goes; most of the film is comprised of still drawings serving as a backdrop for the young robot's journey. Mao Lamdo directed this, probably the closest to an "art" film Robot Carnival has to offer.

Niwatori Otoko to Akia Kubi (Chicken Man and Red Neck) owes quite a bit to Fantasia's Night on Bald Mountain. An ordinary city is overrun by demonic robots at night, and one man is trapped in it all. Chicken Man and Red Neck has a few slapstick moments, but is still generally a dark film. What it lacks in the sheer power and dark majesty of both the music and animation in Night on Bald Mountain it makes up with a frenetic pace and the terror of poor Chicken Man. This was directed by Takashi Nakamura, who later became chief animator of

The closing segment was directed by Katsuhiro Otomo and Atsuko Fukushima. The Robot Carnival is over, and the mobile sign/parade vehicle is in ruin. The ending is a funny and almost sadistic surprise; see the movie and judge it for yourself.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Not exactly anime, but this seems to be most people's intro to anime. A combination of 3 anime series ("

For the most part, general plots were retained, though details were changed. As an introduction to anime, this series was fairly well done and self-consistent. Now available on video.

1.80 Roots Search

Roots Search (OAV)

Columbia Video, 45 min.

Description (Neil Nadelman):

Story concerns an alien with a God complex invading an isolated research satellite and causing people to re-live their worst nightmares... Which for some reason seems to cause them to explode and get sucked out of airlocks. Weirdest thing about it? Seems to contain references to the Soviet SF film "Solaris".

Animation quality is decent to mediocre. Music is unremarkable. Story's okay if you're into this sort of thing. My biggest problem with it is the ending: Like MD Geist, it seemed to be setting up for a sequel that was never made.

All in all, it's fluffy SF/Splattertainment. Good for rental.

Description (Todd Knarr, todd.knarr@teamhbbs.com):

Generic alien creature (self-proclaimed messenger of God) comes aboard a space station and begins killing everyone aboard by making them relive various 'evil' things they did during their lives. It gets somewhat bloody. At the end, our hero and heroine get condemned to 'Hell' for not being absolutely perfect (in the creature's eyes), and we're left hanging as they walk off to explore.

I wouldn't recommend buying it flat out sight unseen, but as a rental it doesn't cost that much to find out if you like it.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

This is a series of independent stories by Rumiko Takahashi of and Ranma 1/2 fame. Originally, they fell under the "Rumic World" label, but that label seems to have vanished for the more recent releases. All were very well done, and are recommended for anyone looking for more of Takahashi-sensei's works. Note that only "The Supergal" is a comedy.

Rumic World: Fire Tripper - An explosion sends Suzu back in time to 16th century Japan where she falls in love with a warrior while looking for her lost charge (a little boy).

Rumic World: The Supergal - Always in poverty, Maris has to work a lot of odd jobs - one of which is a Space Police officer. She gets her chance when a rich tycoon's son is kidnapped.

Rumic World: Laughing Target - An iinazuke from a boy's past threatens his present as she tries to possess him (by eliminating his present girlfriend).

One Pound Gospel - This is your average boxing story, or is it? Kousaku is aiming for the title, but his uncontrollable appetite makes it hard to keep him under the weight limit for his class. He receives spiritual (and physical ;-) guidance by the catholic nun Angela. This OAV has it's funny moments, but is not a comedy. (Description by Christian Balzer).

Ningyo no Mori - A legend says that eating mermaid flesh will grant immortality. In reality, most people die horribly, and the rest will mutate into monsters. Only a few are granted true immortality, but Yuuta just wants his humanity back.

In "Mermaid Forest", he and Mana are trapped by one who still wants the gift/curse of immortality...

Ann/Natsumi Ginga (Sailor Moon R)		Yumi Tohma
Chibi Usa	(Sailor Moon R)	Kae Araki

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

"Tsukino Usagi" (Rabbit of the Moon) is a rather underachieving junior high school girl who gets low test grades, does poorly in sports, and is often late to class. She's also a very caring individual. When Usagi-chan sees some boys tormenting a black cat, she rescues the cat. The cat reappears later to thank Usagi and introduces herself as Luna. Usagi is frightened at seeing a talking cat, so Luna gives her a pretty broach. With the words "Moon Prism Power-Make Up!", the broach turns her into the superheroine Sailor Moon. Her job is to fight against the youma (demons) who appear to steal human energy. Unfortunately, Sailor Moon is still spectacularly incompetent at fighting youma. Fortunately, the mysterious Tuxedo Kamen appears to save her. Later, the appearance of the other Sailor Senshi (warriors) will help, since they are better at fighting than Sailor Moon is. Luna is also looking for her missing Moon Princess. This is a very funny series which enjoys massive popularity in Japan.

Tidbits:

- All of the Sailor Senshi are 14 year old schoolgirls dressed in short, cute versions of their regular school uniforms.
- Like "Tsukino Usagi", the names of the other Senshi are puns relating to their planet or power (e.g. "Mizuno Ami" is "Ami of the Water"; Sailor Mercury's power is water based).
- The Dark Kingdom villains seem to be named after crystals of various kinds (e.g. Jadeite, Kunzite, Beryl).

- The "Sailor Moon" series ends at episode #46 and is replaced at #47 with "Sailor Moon R" (R = "return" and "romance"). It starts out with 2 aliens, Ail and Ann, who need human energy, similar to the first series. A new plotline has started at #60 with "Chiba Usa" (little Usagi) appearing and demanding the ginzuishou, Usagi's power jewel...

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Tom Jewell)

The premise as given by Taki, the main character:

"Throughout human history, relations between our human world and the other world, the world of demons, has gone a long way. Both worlds sought interaction, cooperation, and coexistence. But many cruel wars were repeated over and over again. Finally, representatives from both worlds signed a treaty. It was a kind of non-aggression treaty. Every several hundred years, there was a set armistice period. Now we are approaching the 21st century. Both worlds are on to sign another [500 year] peace treaty."

To handle crimes committed by either side, the Yami (Dark) Guard is formed as an elite police force. The Guard is made up of men and women of both races - human and demon. The story centers on Renzabury Taki, a human male and member of the Yami Guard. He is teamed with Maki, a beautiful female demon. Their assignment is to guard Giuseppi Maiyart, a wizened old (lusty) man who must be present at the treaty signing. Unknown to Taki and Maki, a secret plot revolves around the two of them.

Director: Rin Taro

From: Walter M. Amos (amos@ccwf.cc.utexas.edu)

The plot is about a Japanese punk type kid in a strange and semi-surreal big city (maybe Tokyo). The art looks like Otomo on acid. Basically this kid begins to be followed around by a phantom train, first we see electric bolts on the tracks, then gradually ghostly images of an engine as the film progresses. Also some bad guys are after him and/or the train (I forget which and why). Eventually he confronts the train, gets run over by it, and sort of merges with it, and destroys the baddies.

The most memorable scene (to me) occurred early on when the kid is making it with his girlfriend. Each time he thrusts, a nebulous female voice says "sex". As this progresses and he goes faster, we hear "sex...sex...sex-sex-sex", reminding one of the "choo...choo..choo-choo-choo" as a train gradually chugs out of the station and gains speed. Quite amusing, stylistically.

1.89 No Need for Tenchi

No Need for Tenchi (OAVs) Genre: Comedy

alternate title: Tenchi Muyou, Ryo-Oh-Ki

Cast:

Tenchi Masaki	Masami Kikuchi
Ryouko	Ai Orikasa
Princess Aeka	Yumi Takada
Princess Sasami	Chisa Yokoyama

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

After tricking his grandfather, Tenchi gets the keys to an old shrine. Family legend says that a hero defeated a horrific demon long ago, and the demon was imprisoned here. The hero's sword was placed next to the demon to guard it. Tenchi finds the old sword...and a mummy. Since Tenchi broke the seals, the mummy rises. Frantically, Tenchi tries to reseal the shrine and escapes. Later, Tenchi is back at school. He is startled by a girl who appears out of nowhere. This is Ryouko, space pirate, former mummy, and a VERY annoyed demon. She decides to kill Tenchi, 'cause she has to take it out on someone. Tenchi escapes from the destroyed school...to find that Ryouko has decided to move in with him. Things get REALLY interesting when Aeka, Princess of the Jurai, comes to Earth looking for her brother...the long-dead hero who sealed Ryouko up the first time. This is a very funny, fast-moving action comedy with lots of unique elements...including spaceships grown from trees and a pirate ship that becomes a cute bunny...

NOTE: The title might also be translated as "This Side Up, Tenchi" and, in fact, is carried that way at Nikaku. This is because the kanji used can be interpreted more than one way...

1.90 My Neighbor Totoro

My Neighbor Totoro (FILM) Genre: Drama

alternate title: Tonari no Totoro

Cast:

Satsuki Noriko Hidaka
Satsuki & Mei's mother Sumi Shimamoto

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Moving out to the countryside, Satsuki and Mei (along with their father) settle in a new house in a farming community. Their mother is in a hospital, and is suppose to join them soon. Mei is the first to encounter a magical creature who she names "Totoro". After Satsuki meets Totoro, their lives fill up with the magic that nature and Totoro provides. A heartwarming film from Hayao Miyazaki.

1.91 The Transformers

The Transformers (TV, FILM) Genre: Giant Robots

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

On the planet Cybertron, the 'life forms' are robots that are able to transform into other machinery. There was a war between 2 factions, and the Decepticons won. The Autobots retreated to the planet Earth, led by Optimus Prime. As the name implies, Autobots can transform into motor vehicles with Prime becoming a 18-wheel truck. The Decepticons pursued the Autobots to Earth led by Megatron, who transforms into a gun. Most of the other Deceptacons transform into jets. The war continues on Earth. The "Transformers Movie" ends this war with the Autobots winning, but having to face a planet-eating robot called Omicron Theta... (This, of course, generates many toys for Hasbro to sell... :-))

Note: Despite the giant robots, this is an American creation and production. The concept proved popular in Japan, however, and a new anime Transformers series ran there with original stories, using Japanese writers and voice actors...

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: RECOMMENDED - little anime connection, though

1.92 Irresponsible Captain Tyler

Irresponsible Captain Tyler (TV) Genre: Comedy

alternate title: Musekinin Kanchou Tyler

Cast:

Justy Ueki Tyler Kouji Tsujitani
Yuriko Star Yuri Amano
Yamamoto Shoo Hayami
Azarin Hiroko Kasahara
Dom Toshihiko Seki
Mifune Mugihito
Fuji Tomomichi Nishimura
Kyung-Hwa Kim Kotonno Mitsuishi
Katori Ken Narita
Kitaguchi Jouji Yanami
Harumi Maya Okamoto
Yumi & Emi Hanami Mika Kanai

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

This series is set in the far future. Justy Tyler is wandering the streets when his eye catches a recruiting ad (on a very LARGE TV screen). Actually, his eye is caught by the girl in the commercial. He signs up immediately. During his screening/training/testing, he manages to seduce the main computer at the HQ...completely disrupting operations during an invasion, and stops an alien-induced hostage situation...neither the criminals nor the hostages knew what to make of him. Now, he's been given command of his own space battleship...an antique. His crew is a collection of misfits, including 3 of the aforementioned hostages: Yuriko and his twin aides Yumi & Emi. Also Yamamoto, the officer in charge of the hostage drama...before Tyler walked in. This series would be utterly chaotic if it wasn't so funny.

Note: In both the spoken and katakana forms, his name is "Tyler" or "TAIRA". In the eyecatch, his name is "Tailor" written in English. Make whatever you want out of this... :-)

1.93 I Can Hear the Sea

I Can Hear the Sea (TV) Genre: Drama

alternate title: Umi Ga Kikoeru

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Taku Morisaki is a college student on his way back to a high school reunion. On the plane flight back, he remembers events from his high school days. He remembers getting a glimpse of a new girl with his friend Matsuno. Later, Matsuno introduces his new girlfriend to Morisaki. Her name is Rikako Muto. She is very good in sports and academically, but is a social outsider since she is a transfer student. In their last year in school, the class takes a trip to Hawaii. When Rikako's money is stolen, it is to Morisaki that she asks to help her. This doesn't go unnoticed by Matsuno, and cracks begin to appear in their friendship. This is a very real look at relationships, and how a single act may change them forever. Did a romantic triangle form? It's hard to tell. This TV movie compares well with better live-action dramas and outshines most anime.

NOTE: This is Studio Ghibli's first solo attempt by the "younger generation" of the company. Miyazaki-sensei was not involved.

Anime Pocket Guide Rating: HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

1.94 Wandering Kid

Wandering Kid (OAVs, FILM) Genre: Miscellaneous

alternate titles: Legend of the Overfiend, Urotsukidoji

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

The universe consists of 3 realms: the Human World, the Beast World, and the Demon World. Every 3000 years, the "Chojin" (which is essentially a super-God of sorts) is born to unite the 3 worlds together. This series follows the journey of a boy from the Beast World named Amanojaku as he searches for the "Chojin". He settles on a human boy and girl (Nakumo and Akemi) who seem to be the key. Events unfold rapidly as demons also appear, looking for the "Chojin". The film is an edited compilation of the 1st OAV series. There is a 2nd OAV series which is a prequel of sorts. There are many scenes involving violent rapes, dismemberment, demon-induced gore, supernatural horror stuff, etc...

NOTE: This series' prime focus seems to be on the graphic sex and violent scenes which permeates the series. In all fairness, there is a rather complex plotline running through this, but in the end, the plot is only an excuse to show more sex and violence.

 Rara (UY3: Remember my Love) Sumi Shimamoto
 Karla (UY5: Boy meets Girl) You Inouye

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

One day, an alien fleet appeared and was going to invade the Earth. Earth had only once chance: if a randomly selected Earthman defeated an alien in a game of tag, then Earth would be spared. The computers picked a high school lech named Ataru Moroboshi. When Ataru found out, he hid behind his girlfriend Shinobu...until he saw his opponent: a cute girl in a tiger-striped bikini named Lum. All he has to do is grab Lum's horns before 10 days are up. The horny Ataru was very willing to do just that :-). On the first day, Ataru dashed toward Lum...who flew off. Ataru screamed that nobody told him that Lum could fly! Day after day, Ataru kept trying and failing. On the last night, Shinobu said that she'd marry Ataru if he won. The next day, Ataru cheated...and won the match. Then he said he would now be married. Baaaad timing...Lum took it to mean that he wanted to marry her. Now, the girl-chasing Ataru has a devoted and loving 'wife' who will fry him if he even looks at another girl. Oh, didn't I mention Lum's electric shock power? Wings of Honneamise (FILM) Genre: Drama

alternate title: Royal Space Force

Cast:

Shirotsugh Lhadatto Leo Morimoto
 Leiquinni Nondelaiko Mitsuki Yayoi

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

In an alternate world, Shirotsugh Lhadatto dreams of becoming a pilot...but his grades weren't good enough, so he became a member of the Royal Space Force instead. The Space Force is led by a General whose dream is to put the first man into space. The Space Force, however, is a laughing stock and a career dead end, so its members aren't exactly the cream of the crop. After an encounter with Leiquinni Nondelaiko, a very religious girl, Shiro is inspired to volunteer to be the first astronaut. The movie details the growth of Shiro's character, as well as the trials - both political and technical - which culminate in the launch of the first manned rocket. I can't really do justice to this movie in a short description, but it's very good. A dubbed version exists called "Star Quest"...avoid it.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

Yadamon is a little witch who lives with Jan and his parents. They live in a future time where many things are automated (in a simplistic sort of way...automatic vacuum cleaners, for example). Maria, Jan's mother, is a biologist and spends her time performing experiments. Yadamon is an inquisitive girl who frequently gets Jan in trouble with what she does. Along with Yadamon is Taimon, a little critter (who talks!) and can stop time briefly. The series consists of 10 minute episodes, and plots follow the simple "kids in mischief" line. Purely for little kids.
Note: "Yadamon" is also a cute way for little girls to say "no"..

 Kyou Hayami Toshihiko Seki
 Chougorou Shibuya Tomomichi Nishimura
 Kyouko Hoshihana Yuko Mizutani
 Toshio Harada Shin-ya Ootaki
 Tokudaiji Kenyuu Horiuchi

Anime Pocket Guide Description: (by Chris Swett)

This is a 40-episode shojo (girl's) anime series about two young girls who try to become idol singers in Shibuya. Yohko is intensely upbeat and talented but has a mysterious past that she won't talk about. She meets the second girl, Saki, on the Shinkansen (bullet train) when she's on her way to Tokyo. They team up in their assault on the showbiz industry. Yohko also has a pet flying squirrel named Muu. His primary role is:

- 1) cause Yohko to meet all kinds of strange Shibuya residents
- 2) fetch a mirror-ball prop whenever Yohko looks like she's going to break into song.

This series has at least one song per episode and could be classed as a musical. There is also an extremely cheerful air to it. Note that Yohko's origin is never explained and in fact, the last episode shows her unchanged on TV 50 years from now...

1.104 Yotoden

Yotoden (OAVs) Genre: Adventure

Cast:

Sakon Hayate Kazuhiko Inouye
 Ranmaru Mori Kaneto Shiozawa

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

A giant demon destroys a ninja village. The only 2 people left are a girl, Ayame, and her brother. He gives her a dagger, the sacred weapon of their clan, and turns back to fight against the demon. Only Ayame is left. In ninja tradition, she vows to take revenge on those responsible. Later, a group of thieves attack a lone figure. They find that killing this stranger is not easy, and Sakon, their leader takes the stranger on. During the fight, Sakon and Ayanosuke (she had masculinized her name) find that their blades have an affinity with each other. Demons kill the thieves and are destroyed, in turn, by a priest. He sends them in the direction of Ryoma who has a pike made of the same meteor metal as the other 2 weapons. In this way, the old prophecy is coming true...the 3 mystic weapons working together under the flaming star (a comet) will vanquish evil. The evil, in this case is the demon-possessed Lord Nobunaga. This series is set up like an historical drama with intrigue and confrontations in historical Japan...with some magic and demons added. Note that Nobunaga is a real figure in Japanese history and tried to unite Japan under himself. He was the first to use Western weapons as opposed to the more 'honorable' weapons. This series is also noted for its realistic human animation.

Anime Pocket Guide Description:

A young man named Akitsu Masato is 'captured' by a secret govt. project known as "Last Guardian". He is told that his life as a normal student was all a lie, and that his real destiny is to be the pilot of a great robot called "Zeorymer of the Heavens". The truth of this is hammered in when Masato sees his 'parents' accept payment for raising him. The Last Guardian is preparing for the resurrection of "Hau Dragon", an organization bent on world conquest. 15 years ago, Hau Dragon built 8 great robots. Each of the mecha represents a force of nature. However, before any of the robots could be used, their creator Kihara Masaki destroyed the robots except for the leader: Zeorymer. He took Zeorymer and an embryo to the government. The embryo became the boy Masato. Now, Hau Dragon has rebuilt the other 7 mecha and wants the 8th. It will be up to Masato and Himuro to pilot Zeorymer and fight against the Hau Dragon...but neither Masato or Himuro are all that they seem...

1.110 Urusei Yatsura TV Episodes

Urusei Yatsura Title List
 Compiled by: Andy Johnson and Preston Nevins

 -A Few Notes on the 'Urusei Yatsura' TV Episode List:

The television episodes are divided into groups based on their credits.
 An approximate translation of the song title is given.

#	Episode number
DATE	Date that episode was originally broadcast
EP. TITLE	Title of the episode
	If the title has an asterisk '*' immediately before it, then this is an approximate translation of the title Otherwise, this is a very short episode description Three asterisks '' denote missing/unknown parts of titles.
ANIME	Which 'Anime Comics' book the episode can be found in e.g. 02.1 is the first story in the second Urusei Anime Comic
SUNDAY	Which 'Shonen Sunday' Urusei book the original version of the story can be found in (if applicable)
GRAPHIC	Which Urusei 'Shonen Sunday Graphic' the episode can be found in

This information comes from:

June 1986 'Animage' - the Japanese titles and dates of all the episodes
 Urusei Anime Comics 1-36
 Urusei Shonen Sunday Comics 1-30 (of 34)
 Urusei Shonen Sunday Graphics 7-15 (of however many...)

If you can improve this list (and it sure needs a lot of improvement) please send your corrections to:

Preston Nevins
 589 Neff Road
 Grosse Pte City, MI

and we'll send you copies of the list as we update it.

or call Tomobiki-NET at (313)884-0418 and complain directly to us- We'd be happy to hear it!

As great fans of this show we want to obtain and distribute as much information as we can.

(Probably a lot of the names in this list are copyrighted by Rumiko Takahashi, Kitty Films, or Fuji TV...but we won't tell if you won't)

Special Thanks to:

Rumiko Takahashi for creating Urusei Yatsura
 Fumi Hirano for giving Lum a voice
 William Sikora for supplying the episodes & ordering the books
 Masaki Takai for language assistance

1.112 Yuu Yuu Hakusho TV Episodes

From: sanjiyan@netcom.com (Melinda Miller)

Date: Sat, 9 Oct 1993 00:54:20 GMT

This is an episode list for Yuu*Yuu*Hakusho, for as far as I currently have episodes. The dates aired all came from Newtype. I have no knowledge about how accurate they are (being stuck on this side of the Pacific...) I tried to keep the original feel of the titles, and so they are sometimes a little on the strange side. Names that get used frequently are left in Japanese, with a literal translation put in paranthesis. Any suggestions for alternate translations are welcome. Trying to translate episode titles was one of the weirdest, most frustrating experiences I've had, so I would love to have any ideas on how to translate these better.

I will update this list as I get more episodes, and will gladly forward updates to anyone who wants them.
