TROPICAL RAINFOREST, is a $39.95 CD ROM featuring 100 color photographic images of life in the tropical rain forest, along with 100 audio clips of Andean Pan Flute music and 25-live action videos.

All of the sounds, videos and color photographic images used in Tropical Rainforest were produced by Bolivian artists living in the rain forest, said Kitze. The artists will receive royalties on their works, and a portion of the proceeds from the title will be donated to help preserve the world's rain forests.

Tropical Rainforest supports Windows/MPC, MS DOS and Macintosh formats on the same disk, and self-running slide shows. All three formats, which are included on the same CD ROM, utilize a built-in "search engine" to locate specific images and sounds. On Windows/MPC and Macintosh machines, a "picture picker" guides the user to the best shot via a full-screen matrix, while PC users can retrieve images by scrolling through the image catalog.
