THIS IS SHAREWARE AND YOU MUST REGISTER TO CONTINUE USE!

We hope that you like the images in CD Toons 1993: Attention Getting. The artwork in this collection was drawn by cartoonist Gary Cooper and he would like to let you know that he is a humorous illustrator for hire. Just write to the address above to contact him and he will get with you.

Feel free to look through the clip art contained in this collection and split a gut laughing at some of the drawings and comics, which are new for us. If you like to see more comics let us know.

There are well over 100 pieces of clip art if you take apart some of the files. To save space we put more than one drawing per file and some that are just supposed to be one can be split apart.

The clip art contained in this collection is copyrighted and you must register before use. Business presentation, advertiments, newsletters, magazines, logos, ect. are all examples of when you must register using 'FORM.TXT'. If you want to use these for greeting cards, T-shirt, or anything that you will actually make a profit off the artwork must register AND write for additional rights.

When you register you will receive a booklet containing all the images and the number , tips on printing and a license agreement.
to register type 'copy form.txt prn' at your DOS prompt.
