Hello. This is Jim Hassert welcoming you again to the MPC information center on NautilusCD. Be sure to check here each month for updated information about the Multimedia PC Marketing Council and the world of multimedia. There is much to talk about this month, so let's get started.

In February, the MPC Marketing Council, in conjunction with America Online, unveiled "MPC Headquarters"...a new and exciting electronic forum for immediate MPC news and information. It's at MPC Headquarters where you can check for up to the minute breaking news and new MPC certified software and hardware products. You can download product demos, text and specification files, graphics, or simply browse our online MPC Titles Catalog. In addition to the information for viewing, you can interact with us via the MPC Headquarters message boards. Join us in discussing the world of the multimedia PC. Feel free to join us in the multimedia conference every Tuesday evening at 9:30. To find MPC Headquarters on America Online, simply go to the keyword "PC Multimedia", and click on our icon. See you there, we hope!

Alright.....now.......the ever popular list of titles added since last time we talked......the video edition!

Well, that's it for this month. Be sure to check out all our information here, including the transcript of this column for complete updated title listing.

Alright....next month, we hope to bring you news and views from Intermedia '94 - the annual exposition of all things multimedia. We'll have been in San Jose with our camera, and hope to have seen some of you there as well.

Good bye!
