

This command duplicates the currently selected files and saves them into a destination folder specified by the user.

Note:

LightBox copies files much faster than the Finder. Use this option when you have to copy or move large image files.