

This command opens a file exactly as double-clicking (or “Open”) would do under the Finder.

Use this if you want to open the selected image using the application that created it.