

This command opens the folder containing the selected file as the front most Finder window.

The file itself is selected, allowing you to work directly on it.