OgniX and Pera are here again,
together with Jon Bat's voice.

               Thanks to a Neil Martin's idea, we finally finish PC Hurts, the

It's dedicated to all those sad joining the dark PeeCee side.

1.2 Just A Little Story...

```
                                    JUST A LITTLE STORY...
                            ~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~

It was Spring 1996ad. Pera, Alex, BMK and I were at the Euromercato mall I don't remember for doing what. We just got off the car and Alex told me:
"I've got the idea for The Intel Outside sequel. We could use another

            TI.PI.CAL.
```
            's song...". I said: "No, I don't want to use another TI.PI.CAL.'s track; it seems to me like a forcing.". Alex: "No, listen. Do you know It Hurts? Well... PC hurts, PC hurts, PC hurts... when it woooorkss...".

            AH, AH, AH, AH, AH!!!  \8^0  (general laugh)

I said: "Great idea! We will make it!".
A lot of water is passed under the bridges since then, but we finnaly made it. To be precise the module was ready for the beginning of October 1997ad, in fact I presented it at the exhibition Pianeta Amiga (20/21-Sep-1997ad Empoli, ITALY), but I wanted to add also some bonus files like in The Intel Outside: the pseudo-cover took many time to be accomplished because I needed something/someone to digitize ourselves (I found a Mac user friend of mine who bought a scanner in December only).

This song, as you'll may listen, is dedicated to those guys that left the Amiga for joining the Pee Cee side (how many troubles with their ultra-pumped dream machines(?!)).

Ok, that's all. Check out the credits and lyrics
                , but before this I want to let you know more two little things:
1. This is not a Pure Amiga Product like The Intel Outside module, because I used a Mac for scanning our images.
2.
            TI.PI.CAL.
            's track It Hurts is a cover: the original song was written by Lotus Eaters about in 1984-1985 (thanks to Jon Bat for this note).

1.3 Lyrics

PC HURTS

And it hurts, and it hurts, and it hurts,        -----------------
                            PC hurts.            |p  c    u  s e r|

And~it~hurts, and it hurts, and it hurts,        |A D V I S O R Y|
                            PC hurts.            -----------------
                                                 |explicit lyrics|
                                                 -----------------

PC~stops~the imagination in my mind,

makes me mad when it crashes many times.

Why didn't I keep my Intel Outside, don't you know how hard I cried.

PC hurts, PC hurts, when it works.

PC hurts, when it works, PC hurts.

PC hurts, PC hurts, when it works.

PC hurts, when it works, PC hurts.

There will be a day when PC dies;

there will be a day when PC dies.

And it hurts, and it hurts, and it hurts,
                            PC hurts.
And it hurts, and it hurts, and it hurts,
                            PC hurts.

It would be better to look to the future,

but it's not, really not, the Bill's one.

Amiga's lymph still flows in our hearts,

this great sensation with PC doesn't come.

PC hurts, PC hurts, when it works.

PC hurts, when it works, PC hurts.

PC hurts, PC hurts, when it works.

PC hurts, when it works, PC hurts.

There will be a day when PC dies;

there will be a day when PC dies.

Yes...

The day will come.

The day when Bill will beg at the entrance of World Of Amiga, and Peter will clean up shoes to the visitors.

PC Hurts has been made on an Amiga 4000 KS 3.1 - WB 3.1 - 18 MB RAM (2~MB~Chip RAM + 16 MB Fast RAM -> useless but... :) , but it could be made~also~on my (OgniX) other Amiga, a 500 with KS 2.0 - WB 2.1 - ECS - 4 MB
RAM~(2 MB~Chip RAM + 2 MB Fast): next time, when I compose a new module, I'll~use this~last one.

Music tracker program used: OctaMED V5.04 (OctaMED Sound Studio
V1.03c~is~available for free at the RBF Software WWW site
->~http://www.octamed.co.uk~).

Jon Bat vocals have been recorded mainly at Bruno's studio~(previously~called 21 Sound Studio); later, due to errors, a couple of~phrases have been~re-recorded at Viva Radio.

Recording equipment: AKG Microphone, Sony DCT-60 DAT Deck and Tascam~DA-20~DAT Deck.

The sampling has been made with a Toccata audio board together with~the~program Samplitude MS V2.10 (which has a bug in the IFF 8SVX~saving~function; however we loaded the samples as Raw files in OctaMED).

The sad PC user drawn in the pseudo-cover has been inspired by~an~advertising on an old number of Commodore Computer Club... was a~famous~italian magazine for Commodore users (VIC-20, C-64, C-128, C-16,~etc.).

1.6 System Requirements

                    ~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~~
```

Due to use of a lot of samples, this MED module (OctaMED Pro V5.0 – MMD1) can be played only on Amigas with at least 2 MB of Chip RAM (ECS Agnus 8375 or AGA) or on machines with 2 MB of RAM at least, if you use a player that loads samples in Fast RAM (eg. DeliTracker).

Note: if you have a bare 2 MB Amiga, you may encounter some loading problems due to memory limitations.
      If you find these ones please try to reduce the amount of memory used by deactivating background programs (like commodities) and by reducing your Workbench colors and resolution.
      If you still have problems do the following:

   1. disable booting with Startup-Sequence by selecting the relative option in the bootup menu (press both mouse buttons after a reset for Amiga OS 2.0 and above) or by pressing <CTRL-D> to stop execution (Amiga OS 1.X).
   2. Once in the CLI type the complete path of the player followed by the complete path of the module, and than press <RETURN>.

      e.g.   DH0:Tools/OctaMEDPlayer DH0:Modules/PC_Hurts.med

   3. Pump up the volume and enjoy!   \;^)

>>>IMPORTANT NOTE<<<

If you compose a house track, please put it in mods/house; doing so will permit an easy way to recognise your module to those guys that like that kind of music.
Moreover do not make a lot of modules just to have a personal directory on Aminet...
