

You can use the WinSock Switcher application to easily switch between the Remote Access Transport (SLIP or PPP) and a LAN based transport. The Switcher screen tells you which transport is currently in use. If you want to change transports, select the other transport and click OK to use that transport. You will not have to reboot.

NOTE You should close all your open applications before using WinSock Switcher.

