Comments      : After starting the virus stays resident by using the Kick-vectors. On the next reset the virus patches the OpenWindow()-Vector from the intuition.library. If you are now booting with a unprotected disk (or HD), the virus copies itself into the C: directory with the name CLS and modifies the startup-sequence with "CLS *".
                The star (*) after CLS has the following meaning:

                If you are starting the virus with CLS, it clears the CLI-window. But if you are starting the virus by typing CLS * it doesn't clears the CLI-Window.

                This was made because the user shouldn't wonder why suddenly the CLI-window is cleared on every boot.
                Depending of infections, the virus gives out an

            After pressing any mouse button another alert appeares

            Incoming special-message.
                Your Amiga is infected by DISASTER-MASTER V2 !!! probably the virus created by mankind....
                Left = continue        Right = self destruction

            Click  on this gadget to see a  Demo  of the Disaster
            Master virus. Click left mouse button to return.

            If you are pressing the right mouse button the virus
            jumps to a endless-routine by showing some colors:

      ENDLESS:
            MOVE.W $DFF006,$DFF180
            BRA.S  ENDLESS

            You must reset your Amiga!!!
            It exists a trojan which installs this virus:
