Conflict Isolation is currently underway. By clicking the "Passed" or "Failed" buttons here, you record whether your problem occurred the last time you tested for it.

If you're testing for a problem that causes a crash at startup, the appropriate default button is already highlighted. However, if you're restarting after testing for a problem that occurs after startup, you need to choose the appropriate button.

If the problem did not occur in the last test cycle, click "Passed."

If the problem did occur in the last test cycle, click "Failed."

If you've forgotten the result of the last test cycle, click "Retry."

To guit the Conflict Isolation process, click "Stop Test."