

Foreign Monarchies

Religious

Emperor Julian was known as the Apostate because he abandoned Christianity, in favour of the Roman gods and goddesses, after the murder of his male relatives.

Louis IX of France was declared a saint nearly 30 years after his death from the plague. He led the sixth Crusade (1248-54) following an illness.

Saint Clotilda was niece of the King of Burgundy who married Clovis, King of the Franks. She was known for her piety and good works.