

Residences

The Prince Consort built Osborne House, on the Isle of Wight, to an Italianate design. The only royal family to live in it was Victoria's, as Edward VII gave it to the nation in 1902.

Glamis Castle was the home of the Bowes-Lyon family. Princess Margaret was born there.

Holyroodhouse in Edinburgh is the Queen's official residence in Scotland.