

Figure 1: The membership of a lineage. The triangles represent males and the circles females. Note that men continue to belong to a lineage after marriage, but children do not belong to the lineage of their father but instead to that of their mother.

