

Zerro's Third Try for Something

Ok, so there's a big debate about when life begins. Ask any Catholic priest, and he'll tell you life begins at the very moment of conception. Ask, like Zerro did, someone who works for Planned Parenthood, and they will tell you life begins when the kids leave home and the dog dies. That's the reason for the big debate.

Anybody can become President of the United States Department: There is the story which appeared in Ann Landers about this poor unfortunate who dropped out of grade school and became an attorney! He ran a country store for a time, and went bankrupt. It took him fifteen years to pay off all the bills. He got married, and this turned out sour and unhappy. He ran for the House of Representatives, twice, and got beat both times. So, he ran for the Senate two times, and lost twice there, too. You'd think this guy would know that he was not intended to be all that successful. He was an awkward, rumped and brooding man whose appearance did not too much to inspire confidence. He was disorganized and wrote speeches on used envelopes. When he gave speeches, the result was indifference by his audiences. Eventually, he did become the President of the United States, and as a result, half of the people in the country took up arms to get rid of him. Abe Lincoln can be an inspiration to many of us.

There was one length of a national railroad that was so bad that the trains using it were regularly derailed. It got so bad that the local station master took to making wagers on when the next train would derail on this section. This is the beginning of off track betting. (Sorry about this, really, but I just had to get it out!)

One way to retain your health is to refrain from eating what you like, restrain yourself from any form of drink, and have lots of health food. You may not live longer, but it will feel like you did.

The sportsmanship of hunting depends upon whether you are the hunter or the hunted.

The statistical probability of being a good husband is equal to that of finding a gorilla with real talent for playing the harp.

As a result of the last Presidential election it has come to our attention that anyone can succeed if they learn to have no ideas and a tremendous ability toward precise articulation of these.

If one would become totally unhappy, one must have the time to consider whether or not one is as happy as one should be. Two can do it in half the time, by providing unhappiness for the other, thus solving the problem.

Playing the lottery, especially when there is a large pot, does not of itself improve your chances of winning.

One thing most people who register those who want to get married have in common is an abiding conviction that love is indeed stone blind.

(2)

Many people demand to see the car they are going to buy in full daylight. Then they go out that evening and fall in love in a dark restaurant. And we call ourselves civilized.

You know you have not made the best impression when someone tells you: "I'm going to commit your name to memory and throw my head away."

Gloria Steinem once said that "the surest way to be alone is to get married." If you viewed her up close, you'd know why she would say such a thing. Of course, you would also be sick.

There are four types of men. There are the mediocre by nature. There are those who strive for mediocrity. There are those who have mediocrity thrust upon them. And there is Dan Quayle, filled with hope that he can move into another category.

The self-imagined non-conformist is the one who most rigorously conforms to the rules of non-conformity.

One of the major problems of modern education is that most of the work is left for the school teacher to do.

Those who on occasion will say, "My country, right or wrong," and those who will say on another occasion, "My mother, drunk or sober."

If you happen to hear two version of a story about the fall of someone you know, the most judicious course is to believe the worst of the two stories.

The number of honest politicians is superceded only by the number of honest burglars, if one consults the individuals involved.

Free love is a contradiction in terms.

As a candidate for national elective office the most dangerous thing you can do is say something during the campaign that the people might remember.

Pornography, when once purchased, contains the fruitful seeds of complete boredom.

Never put off until tomorrow what you can put off indefinitely.

A friend in need ... is a pest.

Do unto others what you would, and then split before they realize what you have done.

If at first you don't succeed, stand back, give way, and let others make fools of themselves, so you'll have company.

Half of me says I have schizophrenia, the other half says I don't.

(3)

If you would live a long life, observe moderation in all things, including sobriety.

Many believe that marriage offers us a good example of two people being able to live as cheaply as one. The proposition is absolutely correct, if one of the parties to it agrees to starve to death.

When you start to think that life is tough and you've got it hard, stop, reflect on being a deckhand on Noah's ark.

A bird in the hand makes blowing the nose a real problem.

A stitch in time...keeps the magazine together.

Television is to intelligence what culture is to yogurt.

Jimmy Swaggart is haunted by the omnivorous fear that someone, somewhere, is able to be happy without sending him money.

Jerry Falwell is haunted by the fear that someone, somewhere, is sending money to Jimmy Swaggart.

Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker are haunted by fear, and it has not limits.

The old American way to spell cheese was K-R-A-F-T. Now, it's P-H-I-L-P-M-O-R-R-I-S.

Coke was it....than it wasn't....now it is again.

See the USA in a Chevrolet.....a joint operating agreement between us and Mitsubishi Motors.

Old commercial: Hey Culligan Man!
New commercial: Hey Culligan Person!
Progress....

It is coming up to March again, and Oral Roberts is looking for someone to hold him hostage. God didn't want the job. God punished him for what he did the last time by leaving Oral in Oklahoma. Oklahoma is a wonderful place to be if there is nowhere else to go.

Dan Quayle got his first assignment! He is in charge of picking up the crushed jelly beans from the carpet in the Oval Office. Currently, he is in school, learning how to do it. Next week, he starts.

The other day along the road I saw a sign which said "Deer Crossing." Until that very time it never occurred to me that deer were Catholics.

One thing Jimmy Swaggart and his wife have in common that most married couples don't....her clothing!

(4)

I was asked if I would feed my neighbor's dog while they went on vacation. Innocently enough I said I would do it. I had no idea that cats were so darned hard to catch.

If you want to have a long life, you must give up all those things that would make a long life interesting and fun.

Let Rosanne Barr be your valentine this year. If you are going to shell out $ 30 for fine chocolate, you want to give it to someone who will eat the stuff...in one sitting.

People keep asking, what must I do to be a candidate for Vice President, and I keep telling them....nothing...nothing...nothing...

If Jimmy Swaggart did the things the latest Penthouse says he did, the man should be locked up as a real menace to society!

Now that Philip Morris owns Kraft Cheese, will we get a menthol flavored Philadelphia Cream Cheese?

How about a cheese flavored cigarette? Anyone for a filtered Cream Light 100?

Definitely, times have changed. If you flunk out of high school today, you will likely have to settle for being just Vice President.

It is a fairly good sign that you are obsessive-compulsive when you don't celebrate Ash Wednesday by receiving ashes because you don't want to get your forehead dirty.

It is not a good omen when the lady of your dreams shows up at the court house for the wedding wearing designer jeans, and the designer is a man whose name is Frigidaire.

Singles Solution Department: When jogging close to a beautiful lady, you pull up next to her and say "Your pace or mine?" (I deeply regret this, really, but it had to come out, it couldn't stay with me, I can't stand this type of thing, please accept my apology!)

Penthouse Magazine says Jimmy Swaggart hates Catholics. He does not. He does hate what he thinks Catholics are, but there are not any of these around. He just doesn't know the difference.

Yassir Arafat is a shampoo addict. You can tell, since he is always running around with that towel on his head.

Liberation Cocktail = A glass of prune juice. It will set you free!

It is one thing to be ugly, another to have a face that would melt a sundial!

Very few people are worshipping a golden calf, yet many of them are buying it a pound at a time at their local meat market.

(5)

Cher is to beauty what a step ladder is to a frog.

It is not a good omen when the person of your dreams whom you have just met says "Don't go away, I like being alone."

It's not nice to fool Mother Nature, and it doesn't look too good, either. Have you seen Tammy Faye Bakker recently?

Can you imagine, RJR Nabisco is coming out with a tobacco flavored cookie.. followed of course by a Chocolate flavored filter soft light one hundred cigarette.

Rumor has it that former Senator John Tower cheats at solitaire. Lengthy congressional investigation to discover source of dishonesty to follow.

The Bush Administration is off to a good start....unless they put Noriega in as Drug Commissioner!

Suspicious confirmed: Jerry Falwell did NOT send a valentine card to Jim and Tammy Bakker.

President Ronald Reagan's last words as President..."Strike the set."

It leaves you a little confused about where the object you are going to purchase was made when it says "This price tag made in the USA."

Vice President Dan Quayle won't be in the Office today, since his wife was sick and there was no one else available to dress him.

Jim and Tammy Bakker are back on television, which proves that there was a much larger market for the Edsel than anyone thought there might be...

President Jerry Ford's last words as President.. "I bumped my head on what?"

President George Bush, fully aware of the fact that Pearl Harbor Day is September 7th, is hanging his sock on the mantle for the Easter Bunny!

When you cross an elephant with a mouse you then have a solid basis for a steroid investigation.

It's hard to think of germicidal warfare as an international crime when much of what you do in your kitchen is part of the same war.

When someone tells you they think you are the finest person they have ever encountered, it is a fairly safe bet they are a closet something or perhaps they lived there.

One thing to be said for not saying anything is that it is not going to be on some bulletin board somewhere, taking up space and bothering people who feel an urge to read everything on bulletin boards.

(6)

Horrible and repulsive human mutations can be viewed on television! These can be seen fairly regularly by tuning in the Morton Downey Show. The host has the potential for mental capacity equal to navel lint in a gnat. It is unfortunate that this capacity is as yet unrealized. Right now, what you have is a rotting rutabaga that talks. He once said a nice word to his Mother and she hit him...with a truck, so he is well trained. Poor Morton, an orphan in his own home, a tourist in his home town. If he got an obscene phone call, the person making the call would be embarrassed. He is a real challenge for those who take the Bible literally and believe that God made everything - you are going to blame this on God? How many people do you know, other than Morton, who can use a watermelon as a jawbreaker? When his dentist does bridge work, it usually involves one or two sub-contractors and union problems. He brushes his teeth by walking through a car wash with his mouth open. One of the very few who has his mouth registered with the US government as a lethal weapon. For him, George Carlin's Seven Words are the same as a Sunday School lesson. When Morton puts a foot in his mouth it is like someone placing a sesame seed in the mouth of an alligator. As a form of public service, Downey motivates people, through fear, to clean their septic tanks simply by his use of language. His mind should be the subject of a study by the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. He has all the personality of a crumpled road map which features tediously precise panoramic examples of every type of highway engineering catastrophe possible of attainment. On his better days the man is a vivid example of what happens when a constipated Hippo develops severe gum problems. His only redeeming quality is that he is not on the air 24 hours a day. I don't think I care for him all that much...

It is generally agreed that those people who agree with you are ranked in your mind as intelligent.

An expert, aside from being a former spurt, is a person who knows more and more about less and less until he knows practically nothing about anything. The more likely a person is to be known as an expert is in direct ratio to the distance that person is from home, which is also known as the law of real catastrophe: The greater the distance from home, the heavier the expert.

Some folks make things happen, others watch what happens, others do not know what happened and some wonder why it happened to them. Dan Quayle is in the fourth category and he is not alone!

A paradox is what parents tell their children. When a kid tells it to their parents, it is more often called a lie.

Talk about excitement. If you really want to have excitement in your life, try raising rabbits. Every day is a hare raising event! (I think it is time for an apology, sorry, really sorry about this one!)

If you can bring about systematic confusion out of real chaos, you have all the qualifications necessary for an organizer.

When I impart my suspicions to you, it is information. When you repeat what you have heard, it is gossip!

(7)

This is the third installment of this type of thing, and if this is the type of thing you like, than you will like this type of thing, otherwise, it will not be so unless it is. Everyone has to be somewhere and so there you are, and there is lots of there around, so it is better for you to be there than here. If you stay there long enough, something will happen that will not happen here, so you will be witness to it, where otherwise you would not have been. There is your reward for being there and staying there and not being here or coming here.

Zerro will return if the board tells him that people want more of this, although it is not too likely. Someone out there might even like our current Vice President and be outright offended. Que sera sera!

Zerro does not exactly dislike Morton Downey, it is just that we do not understand his parents. The question, "Why" could be asked, but likely they don't even know. Nobody really does, things like this happen - a la the bumper sticker....

There is just plenty much more of this material. Some would say there is way too overmuch of it and beyond that even more and enough is more than and other stuff of the same profundity. Folks like that tend to confuse me with their obtuse obfuscation of factual absurdity compounded with obliteration of inaccuracy in favor of something else. I thought we have better clear this up with a neat disclaimer and so there you are, and there is where you should be, because everyone has to be somewhere and there you are...

Farewell,

Zerro (III)