

This bronze figurine was discovered in a cistern with a second figurine of Hercules. The eagle is busy tearing out Prometheus's liver, which was this hero's daily punishment from the gods for bearing fire to humankind. According to legend, Prometheus was bound to a rock offshore at ancient Joppa or Jaffa, modern Tel Aviv.