The Computer Life Super Shareware CD-ROM is a collection of this year's winners of the annual Ziff-Davis Shareware Awards, sponsored in part by Computer Life. The awards honor the best programs distributed through the "try-before-you-buy" system known as shareware. If you're not familiar with it, shareware programs are distributed freely to potential customers. You can try out a program, and if you like it, you're on your honor to send the registration fee to the program's author, and often you get extras - like documentation in return.

From the hundreds of entries received by Ziff-Davis Interactive's shareware library, Computer Life editors selected the following winners in categories that mean the most to you; Education, Graphics, Multimedia, Home & Hobby and Personal Productivity.

In addition, you'll get to meet the Computer Life editors, and try out some of the latest product demos.

Enjoy!

General Information

The Computer Life Super Shareware CD-ROM interface is designed to help you navigate through all of the information and applications provided on the disk. Simply click on any icon or text in the table of contents (main screen) to access the content.

Background Music

You can turn off the background music by simple pressing the F10 key on your computer keyboard. Pressing the F10 key again will turn the music back on. Keep in mind that most of the product demos and feature areas use sound - F10 has no control over these applications.
