Welcome to the Florida Tourist's Guide to the State of Florida. The Sunshine State, the state Canada comes to every winter (haha). Seriously, this guide is written by me so that those of you who have never been here, or those of you who have been here, but what to do something new, can find new suggestions on things to do, see, eat, feel, etc. in my home state. And that is all this is; a suggestion guide. For every one item I have listed, there are many more I have not. This is ment to get you started. I have designed into this program the ability to allow YOU to edit what is there. Don't like a page? Delete it! Know of other stuff in a city I list? Add it! Want to add another page to a region, to list another city? Just do it!

I have divided the program into 5 sections. Section 1 is a QuickFacts page. Some facts about Florida to get you going, or to answer a Trivial Pursuit question.

Section 2 lists cities and attractions in the area of North Florida, which is from the northern state line to Ocala, and across in both directions. New pages can be added if you want to put something there that is not there already.

Section 3 covers Central Florida, from south of Ocala down to just north of Palm Beach. Same story. New pages can be added at any time.

Section 4 covers South Florida, which is from Palm Beach southward until you hit water.

Section 5 is your section. If you know of a destination, attraction, or other item that is near and dear to you, put it here. Grandma's house? Put it here. Your cousin Elmer? Put it here. Your favorite fishing hole, diving spot, shopping center? Put it here.

The controls for the program are very easy. The buttons on the bottom of the pages allow you to add a page (NEW), remove a page (DELETE), do a text search (SEARCH), go left one page (LEFT ARROW), go right one page (RIGHT ARROW), or go back to the first page (PAGE 1). There are also PRINT button, to print out one page, or all pages, depending on your choice. Also, if you have the full version of Toolbook, there is the AUTHOR command under the "Edit" menu, in addition to Cut, Copy, and Paste commands. However, you can only get into the author level with a password, one which I will provide to you via CIS or AOL e-mail or by post or phone IF you send me the $15 donation I ask for this program. I will also tell you how to remove the "beggar's box" from the program. If you only have the runtime version of Toolbook, send me a disk, and I will send back to you a registered version of this program without the beggar's box, if you register. If you have the full authoring version, I will provide you with the Author level password so you can modify the book on your own.

Now it is time for the legal talk. This is shareware. As such, I would hope that if you download this, use it, and decide it is good enough to keep, that you would send a little donation to me of a mere $15. Such a deal! Please send the donation to (checks payable to Dane Basch):

This program was tested extensively on 286, 386SX, and 386DX machines, running both the runtime and full versions of Toolbook 1.5. YOU NEED VERSION 1.5 TO RUN THIS PROGRAM. If you need to obtain the runtime version of Toolbook, you can do one of two things: updates or runtime versions of Toolbook can be purchased from Asymetrix. Call 800-626-3225. Alternatively, you can obtain the runtime version of Toolbook from me, since I am now authorized to distribute the runtime version of Toolbook. However, you MUST include the registration fee for the program with the request for the runtime, plus $5 US. There were no problems detected, so I assume it works. I do not, however, guarantee that it will work on your machine. In other words, use at your own risk. However, I do not expect any problems. I will also not be able to support the program the way some of the big guys do, but if you leave me a message on CIS or America On-line, I will try to help you in any way I can. Also, since this is shareware, one of the best sources of improvements is you. If you have a suggestion as to how to improve this program, or there is a feature you think should be there that is not, please drop me a note on CIS or AOL. I welcome such suggestions, and have always incorporated them into past programs. There will be updates posted from time to time on CIS and AOL, whenever I find new features to add or improvements to make.

While you are reading this, allow me to point out some of the other programs which I have written for Toolbook in the past. All are availiable now on Compuserve or America On-line:

Diver's Log Book
A log book for SCUBA divers in Toolbook. Allows you to record the particulars of your dive right into you computer. This was my first program job, and has been very popular.

Software Log Book
My most popular and successful program. For a few dollars, you get the ability to place all important software information, such as company phone numbers, serial numbers, version numbers, titles, etc, into one convenient place: your computer, where it ought to be. No more diving into a stack of manuals and disks to find this information. As long as your computer boots, you have instant, total access to vital software info, be it for updates, tech support, or just to get organized. You need this.

Professional Address Book
A utility that can be used either as an address book for everyday use, or as a simple contact note manager for the busy Windows professional user. Includes word searching and entry sorting. A good basic program for the power Windows user.

VCR Catalog
A utility that operates very similar to this utility, except it is aimed at the video area instead. Has the same look and feel of Music Catalog, so it makes a good companion program.

Music Catalog
A utility that operates very similar to VCR Catalog and to the Home Inventory Catalog. Has the same look and feel of the VCR Catalog and the Home Inventory Catalog, so no new learning is needed.

Home Inventory Catalog
A utility similar to the Music Catalog and VCR Catalog, except this program keeps track of valuables at home, so that insurance claims and other such business can be done easier. Something that many people overlook. Now, disk and hard copy can be produced effortlessly, and updated easily.

Cook Book
Tired of all those 3 X 5 card scattered all over your kitchen? Try organizing your favorite dishes here. Comes with plenty of room to write down instructions, ingredients, etc. With a printer, you could even print out a page, take it to the market with you, and do your shopping with confidence, knowing you did not forget anything.

Comic Book Catalog
Can't keep track of your comics anymore? Can't seem to remember what is what, and how much something is worth, or what you paid for it? Search no further. Now do all this on your computer, with the ease of Windows and Toolbook.

Coin Collection Catalog
A way to keep track of you coin and currency collection. Will allow you to keep a record of your collection, its value, your investment in it, and the condition of various pieces of your collection.

Stamp Collection Catalog
A way to keep track of your stamp collection. Will allow you to keep a record of your collection, its value, your investment in it, and the condition of various pieces of your collection. Very nice to have, since sifting through albums can be tedious after a while.

Look for these program on Compuserve, in the Toolbook forum. Use the keyword HEADFIRST. On America On-Line, go to the Windows forum, in the Windows 3.0/Toolbooks library. Pick them up, please register them, and enjoy.
