

SoftWizardry

November 29, 1997

Dear Developer:

Thank you for your interest in SoftWizardry's OnError Wizard. The OnError Wizard product grew out of our own needs as professional Visual Basic developers. Since we also develop mission-critical Visual Basic software for large clients there's no room for our software to crash. We needed a mechanism to make adding error handling painless and convenient. We looked at all the available products, but we couldn't find one that we truly liked. The products were either too clumsy or too error-prone, too costly or too inflexible. We figured we were not alone, so we wrote the OnError Wizard to answer not only our own needs, but your's as well. Therefore, we made the OnError Wizard facile, reliable, inexpensive and very flexible.

Whether you decide to purchase the OnError Wizard or not, we hope that you find it useful and even fun to use. If you have suggestions for improving the OnError Wizard or any need to correspond with us please drop an email at JosephBSmithAtHome@worldnet.att.net. By the way, if you report a verifiable error in the OnError Wizard, we will give you a free registered copy (after we fix the error, of course).

Sincerely,

Joseph B. Smith
Author, The OnError Wizard 07214145