OfMiceAndMen is a little hack, one of my first app, designed to explore new NeXTSTEP tools (Postscript, Colors, etc...) for me. Nothing exceptional but since some people seem interested, here are the binaries and the sources (no flame please! ;-))

The way OMAM works is easy to understand... You have up to ten mice. When you click on the "Display" button, each mouse runs towards its neighbor. Each line represents the mouse movement...

The result is a quite nice drawing. Some examples are provided with the application. They have the extension ".mice".

Seb.

(cx801@cleveland.freenet.edu) ....No NeXTmail please.... ;-(