3D-licious Vol. 2 Icon Collection

What's This?

When the original 3D-licious Icon Collection was released, the reaction from some members of the icon community was less welcoming than I expected. I did, however, get enough email from visitors to the PixelPress to encourage me to complete a second set. Attention paid to the original 3D-licious by Sara from Sara's IconParade (<http://get.to/iconparade>) was also most instrumental in this, the second 3D-licious set. Thanks, Sara! If you've never been to the IconParade you should check it out, Sara spotlights the best sets on the web and lists virtually every page with icons available.

This set, like the original 3D-licious Icon Collection, is pretty much a miscellaneous icon collection, presenting a few themes but not a sole uber-vision.

I would like to give credit where it is due: As mentioned in the original 3D-licious ReadMe!, I extend my thanks to Copland Icons (<http://www.graphicsdesign.org/copland/>), one of whose designs was the genesis of inspiration for the 'Factory Icon (Revised)'. I would also like to mention a gentleman who released icons by the name Tobias, whose 'Network Browser' icon was the inspiration for my own version of the same icon. To avoid any trouble, I did start my own icon completely from scratch, but thank you none the less, Tobias, where ever in the web you are :)
